Terrorists blow up workers' bus

All-out war in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Terrorists threw a hand grenade into a busload of Roman Catholic workers in a Belfast suburb today, killing one and injuring nine, as Northern Ireland's Catholic and Protestant guerrillas squared off for all-out war against each other.

Security chiefs believed the bus ambush was the work of Protestant extremists. They anticipated retaliation by the Catholics of the Irish Republican Army.

The bus was passing through a quiet Protestant suburb of Belfast, taking the workmen to the site of a new Catholic school. A man with a stick limped in front of the vehicle, and the driver slowed almost to a halt. Two men ran up, lobbed a fragmentation grenade through an open window and escaped.

Two of the wounded were reported in critical condition, and the injuries of three others were "extremely serious," police said.

The bombing raised to 697 the confirmed death toll in 3½ years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland.

The militant Protestants of the Ulster Defense Association announced Tuesday that because of Irish Republican Army 'provocations," they could no longer hold Protestant extremists in check and would not try.

The Catholics of the Irish Republican Army replied that they would take "ruthless retaliatory action" for the killing of Catholics. The UDA said this was "a virtual declaration of war."

Gunmen have killed five persons in Belfast since Monday. Four were

U.S. copters fly Red general to peace meet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopters flew to a jungle rendezvous today, picked up the Viet Cong general who directed the 1968 Tet offensive against Saigon and flew him back to join a peacekeeping commission.

Five years almost to the day since the start of the 1968 attack on Saigon, the U.S. helicopter crews brought Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra and 28 other Viet Cong men to Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Tra is the 55-year-old deputy military commander of the elusive COSVN, the Communists' Central Office for South Vietnam. As chief Viet Cong member of the four-party joint military commission, he likely holds the key to the release of American prisoners of war held in South Vietnam.

Seven U.S. helicopters marked with white stripes picked up Tra and his men at Loc Ninh, a rubber plantation town 75 miles north of Saigon which Tra's forces captured last year.

They were taken to Camp Davis, a former U.S. Signal Corps installation at Tan Son Nhut, where the other Communist cease-fire delegates are housed.

Because of Tra's absence, the peacekeeping group made up of the four belligerents has been unable to start arranging the exchange of prisoners or the security safeguards that must be set up before the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision can send out its teams of observers to police the cease-fire.

Tentative plans were made for the senior members of the joint military commission to hold their first meeting Friday.

Annexes to the peace agreement signed in Paris last Saturday say prisoners shall be returned and received at places agreed to by the four signatories — the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong. These four also must guarantee the safety of personnel engaged in the return and reception of the POWs.

Meanwhile, the total of ceasefire violations reported continued to fall off despite continued heavy fighting in the northern provinces and despite the inability of the truce observer teams to get into the field.

The Saigon command claimed there were 188 Communist attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, compared with 209 in the previous 24 hours, 311 in the 24 hours before that and 426 in the first 22 hours after the ceasefire went into effect Sunday.

The U.S. Command announced that another American adviser was slightly wounded Wednesday in coastal Binh Dinh province. He was hit by a terrorist explosive, the Command said. He was the sixth American wounded since the cease-fire went into effect.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam of South Vietnam returned from Paris and Washington and said he believed the fighting will stop once the international truce teams are in place.

He said if there is a large North Vietnamese invasion, "the countries in the agreement are committed to act but it is up to them to decide what to do."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew to Phnom Penh and then to Bangkok after two days of talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other South Vietnamese officials on postwar U. S.-Vietnamese relations and aid to the Saigon government.

In a departure statement, Agnew said his discussions had been "candid and comprehensive" and that he had "assured President Thieu and his advisers of the strong and abiding interest of the United States in the security and well-being of South Vietnam."

Reds to release new POW listing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said it expects to receive from North Vietnam today the missing list of U.S. prisoners of war held in Laos.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said the list was to be turned over to U.S. diplomats in Paris by North Vietnamese officials and transmitted to Washington.

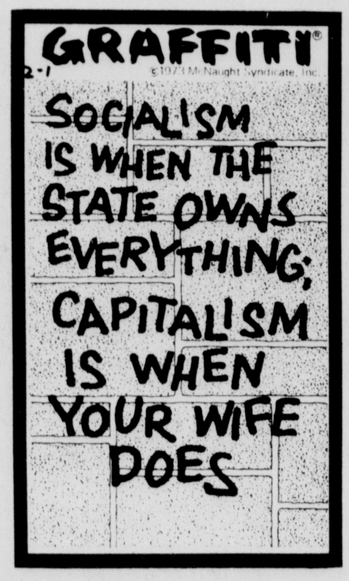
"We do expect it to include all Americans held in Laos, military and civilian, held by North Vietnam and Pathet Lao," he said.

U.S. prisoners held in Laos were not included in the two lists given U.S. officials in Paris Saturday identifying 555 Americans held captive in North and South Vietnam and 55 others who died in enemy camps. But once U.S. officials realized the POWs in Laos were missing from the list, the United States pressed North Vietnam for those names.

The Pentagon previously listed six Americans captive in Laos and 311 missing. Two of the six turned up on the list of those held in North Vietnam.

Although only a small number had been listed as captured, the Pentagon believes that other men carried as missing were taken alive by enemy forces in Laos. Most of the missing there are pilots shot down in air strikes against the jungle supply routes known as the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The Pentagon has charged that North Vietnam, in identifying 555 captives, failed to account for 56 other GIs known to have been prisoners of war in Southeast Asia. Officials are hoping the Laotian list will swell the number of POWs to be released by the Communists beginning next week.



Senate sets own probe of Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chosen to head a Senate investigation of the Watergate bugging affair, wants to create a special five-member committee with broad subpoena powers to conduct the probe.

Asked if White House aides might be called to testify, Ervin said he intends to subpoena witnesses if he believes they have information "regardless of the positions they hold."

The North Carolina Democrat said Wednesday he is drafting, for consideration by the Democratic leadership and the Senate, a resolution to create the investigative panel.

Ervin said the start of hearings by the special committee is at least several weeks away.

A U.S. District Court on Tuesday found G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr. guilty of burglarizing and wiretapping Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex.

Strike hits reformatory

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ninety-five inmates of the Ohio Reformatory for Women failed to report for work today in a growing and confused strike over a variety of grievances.

"It is not completely clear why the inmates are on strike," a spokesman for the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said in Columbus.

"There had been some inmates failing to report for work off and on during the week, but it was more of a nuisance than anything else. Today 35 more inmates joined the strikers."

Supt. Martha Wheeler, the prison ombudsman, the department's ombudsman and Bernard Barton, director of institutional operations, have been trying to pin down complaints in meetings with the inmates' communications group.

Ohio Assembly eyes vote reforms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1973 legislature, seemingly bent on election reforms, has before it a proposal that would require automatic recounts of races that sometimes drag on for weeks and months at the expense of the candidates.

Rep. John Sweeney, D-14 Cleveland Heights, introduced a bill Wednesday that would require another count if the winning margin was one-half of one per cent or less of the vote total or less than 1,000 votes, whichever is less.

It would apply to nominations, candidate contests, issues, or questions that might be placed on any local or state ballot. Sweeney's bill was among five proposing election changes which were received at a Wednesday skeleton session of the House.

The House Rules Committee scheduled floor votes Tuesday on five proposed constitutional amendments which backers hope to place before voters in the May primary. They include the Vietnam veterans' bonus, and a proposal to provide property tax relief for farmers.

Other amendments slated for a vote in the House would permit tandem election of the governor and lieutenant governor, authorize state legislators to receive expenses now prohibited, and revise administrative and procedural rules of the General Assembly.

The farm property tax amendment loomed as the only one virtually sure of passage after bipartisan agreement on an amendment that would leave implementation largely up to the legislature. It has more than 50 sponsors of both parties, and it came out of the House Ways and Means Committee by a vote of 18-0.

Republicans are seeking to finance the $300 million veterans' bonus from the general revenue fund, rather than from an increase in property taxes, so that a floor fight may be expected on that issue. Democratic sponsors claim a .6-mill property levy to retire the bonds over a 15-year period is the best way.

Besides Sweeney's recount bill, the other election bills now before the House would:

—Make general election day a holiday.

—Permit absentee voting at boards of elections up to 4 p.m. the day before election.

—Extend voting hours from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

—Eliminate a requirement for a notary to witness the signing of petitions for candidates for state and county party central committee posts.

Numerous other voting law changes have been proposed in the Senate and House by members of both parties with hearings expected to get under way soon. Bedsheet ballots and primary election foul ups have been among voting problems Ohio has experienced in recent years.

No floor sessions of the House or Senate were held this week to allow members to attend a state government seminar in Columbus. A full week of deliberations may be expected next week, leaders said.

At the sparsely-attended seminar, which wound up a three-day program Wednesday, William Weisenberg of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said a "home furlough" bill would be introduced in the legislature within the next few weeks. He said the measure would be aimed at aiding in rehabilitation of inmates.

Weisenberg described the plan as allowing prisoners in minimum security facilities to have weekend releases to visit their families. It would also permit some to have time off from jail to secure jobs.

Stennis shows improvement; pair sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, shot twice in a holdup, remained in very serious condition today, but a hospital spokesman said the 71-year-old chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee showed slight improvement after spending a comfortable night.

The spokesman said at a 6 a.m. EST briefing that the prospects for Stennis' recovery were still "guarded." But he said the senator was awake and his vital signs were good. The next briefing was scheduled for 3 p.m.

Stennis' administrative assistant, William Cresswell, said Stennis was "very alert" when visited Wednesday night by his wife, Coy, and son, John Hampton Stennis. He said John visited briefly again today about 5:30 a.m.

Police and FBI agents, meanwhile, checked police files and visited several high schools in an effort to learn the identity of two teen-agers who are believed responsible for shooting Stennis outside his northwest Washington home Tuesday night.

Stennis underwent 6½ hours of surgery for the wounds—one in the thigh and one which entered the chest and passed through the stomach and the pancreas. He has been fed intravenously and received multiple blood transfusions.

The senator's attackers reportedly took his wallet containing credit cards, a gold pocket watch, his Phi Beta Kappa key and a 25-cent piece.

Police and FBI spokesmen refused to comment on their investigation.

The Washington Post, however, said authorities have focused their efforts on known gun-carrying offenders and youths arrested in the past in the Northwest Washington neighborhood where Stennis has lived for more than 20 years.

National leaders, including President Nixon, have expressed their shock and concern for Stennis, a 25-year Senate veteran and a key backer of a strong U.S. military.

Many senators denounced the attack on Stennis as an example of the crime problem in the nation's cities.

More acreage freed for crop production

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to increase consumer food supplies and meet rising export commitments, the Nixon administration has opened the way for farmers to produce record corn and soybean crops this year.

The Agriculture Department Wednesday added more land to potential crop production this year by lowering the acreage that farmers must take out of production in order to qualify for government payments.

One result could be a record six-billion-bushel corn crop and soybean production of 1.5 billion bushels.

Prices of wheat, soybean and feed grain have climbed since last summer as a result of heavy exports and growing demands by domestic producers of livestock, poultry and dairy products.

"Our aim is to see that prices get no stronger than they are," said Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Under the new strategy, producers of corn, sorghum, and barley will have to idle 25 per cent of their acreage base in 1973 to qualify for full government benefits. When announced last Dec. 11, this set-aside requirement would have been 30 per cent.

In all, according to the department, feed-grain producers are expected to wind up with about 16.5 million acres taken from production this year, compared with 37 million diverted in 1972.

Until revised Wednesday, the 1973 plan called for more than 25 million acres to be set aside. The new version, therefore, is aimed at putting about nine million acres back to work.

More Navy racial trouble

DENNISPORT, Mass. (AP) — The Navy has confirmed a report of racial trouble aboard the carrier U.S.S. Intrepid but terms "a little harsh" the charge of an officer that "what is going on at present is plain mutiny."

Lt. Fred E. O'Brien, 42, of Dennisport made the charge in letters to Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts. They were sent to his wife, Jane, and fowarded Wednesday.

"The threats are being carried out at present by gangs of blacks roaming around with wrenches and pipes."

Nixon choices win approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed five of President Nixon's six new Cabinet choices and the sixth, Caspar W. Weinberger, is likely to get the nod next week.

Peter J. Brennan, New York labor leader, was approved by a 81-3 vote Wednesday to be Secretary of Labor.

James T. Lynn, Cleveland, Ohio, attorney, was confirmed by voice vote to head the Housing and Urban Development Department.

Lynn also has been designated by the President as one of three super-cabinet officials to coordinate policy in the field of community development.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected the Senate could vote on Weinberger as head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department before it begins the traditional Lincoln Day recess next Thursday.

Weinberger has agreed to testify Friday before the Labor and Public Welfare Committee regarding budget cuts in HEW programs.

His appearance apparently will satisfy members of that committee who have been asking that the nomination be held up.

Weinberger worked on the cuts as Nixon's budget director in the last administration.

Brennan is the first labor leader to run the Labor Department in 20 years.

Some civil rights groups opposed his nomination on the grounds that New York construction unions discriminate against blacks and Puerto Ricans.

But his Senate supporters said Brennan, who was head of the New York Building and Construction Trades Council, had no power to force hiring of minorities by individual unions.

Thug makes big mistake; tangles with lady wrestler

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ann Marie Lynch quit professional wrestling seven years ago, but she came out of retirement to hand a burly burglar "a beating he'll never forget."

Mrs. Lynch, 36, and her husband, Patrick, surprised the thief in their living room after returning home late.

"The first time I can't beat a woman, I'll quit," Mrs. Lynch quoted the 6-foot-2 intruder as shouting when she grabbed for him after he knocked her husband to the floor.

"Boy, was he surprised!" recalled the 5-foot-6 Mrs. Lynch. "Patrick was hit in the stomach. He has a Pacemaker and that guy could have killed him. It made me good and mad.

"I pinned the guy and knocked him good. His head hit the coffee table when I pinned him and there was blood all over my white living room carpet. He finally got away, but the police ought to be able to spot him. His face was tore up real good."

Mrs. Lynch, who weighs about 155 pounds, said her confrontation with the burglar Tuesday night wasn't the first time she foiled a would-be criminal.

"I was in a bank in Chicago one time when some guy tried to hold it up," she said. "He had this gun but I saw it was only a water pistol and I jumped him and held him until the guards came.

"I ain't afraid of no man."

A certified public accountant like her husband, Mrs. Lynch said it has been a busy week.

On Monday night she pulled a man from a burning car.

"It's kind of funny," she said. "But, then, I like to be active."

Mrs. Lynch, who wrestled as Ann Marie Antonelli, said she doesn't remember the record she compiled in her 10 years as a wrestler in Chicago and New York, but "I won more than I lost.

"I wasn't ever famous or anything, but I was pretty tough. I still am."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike will be toll free by 1980, said an Ohio Turnpike Commission report released today.

U.S. airlines end plans for SST in near future

NEW YORK (AP) — Decisions of the nation's two largest international airlines not to exercise options to buy the controversial Concorde has probably ended the possibility of American carriers using supersonic planes in the next few years.

Pan American World Airways announced Wednesday it would not exercise its options to buy seven of the British-French planes because studies showed the aircraft "has significantly less range, less payload and higher operating costs" than present wide-bodied jets. Besides, the carrier added, the Concorde would require "substantially higher fares."

Trans World Airlines said it would recommend that its board of directors not exercise its options on six Concordes because "first priority must be given to the improvement and expansion of our present subsonic fleet." The airline also said it had "some serious question as to the economic viability of the Concorde on TWA's system."

Pan Am and TWA are regarded as industry leaders, particularly in overseas routes where the Concorde would be useful, and their decision to scrap the options is expected to affect the thinking of other airlines.

Four other U.S. carriers hold options on the $50-60 million plane, which is scheduled for delivery sometime in 1974. American and Eastern have options to buy six planes each; Braniff and Continental have options on three planes each.

Braniff is the only one of the four that has displayed much enthusiasm for the Concorde. It says the plane would be ideal for its Latin American flights, but Braniff doesn't want to be the first carrier to try out the new aircraft.

The major attraction of the plane is its speed — more than twice the speed of sound. It can whisk a maximum of 128 passengers from New York to Paris in about three hours.

Its major drawbacks are its price, four times higher than originally quoted; its passenger capacity, less than half that of many planes now in use; and the noise it generates.

Amtrak revenues increased in 1972, report discloses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., said today its revenues for the last six months of 1972 were up 12.6 per cent over revenues for the same period in 1971.

In an annual report to the President and the Congress, Amtrak President Roger Lewis said the revenue growth indicates "that the historical deline in railroad passenger ridership has been reversed."

Amtrak started operations on May 1, 1971.

Lewis said revenue increases for the last six months of 1972 were running slightly less than had been projected, while expenses were slightly higher.

For the calendar year 1972 Amtrak reported a net loss of $147.5 million. Revenues were $162.6 million and expenses $310.1 million.

Passenger use of Amtrak trains from May through September 1972, the period for which the most recent detailed figures were available, showed an increase of 10.4 per cent over the comparable period of 1971.

"At the end of 1972 the Corporation was operating better cars and cleaner cars and was giving the public better service than it was in December a year ago, although we still have a long way to go to achieve what we consider an excellent service," Lewis said.

He said "system-wide on-time performance averaging 75 per cent was not satisfactory to us."

The report outlined some of the difficulties Amtrak has been having in inducing certain participating railroads to keep tracks and roadbeds in good repair.

In one dispute still under contract arbitration, Amtrak contended that Penn Central Transportation Co. violated its basic agreement by failing properly to maintain its rail lines between Indianapolis and Kankakee, Ill.

Amtrak also charged that excessive speed restrictions on Penn Central's lines between Chicago and Louisville, Ky., caused serious delays in its Florida train.

Irish bloodshed

Catholics, and three of those were teen-agers. The fifth was a UDA member.

The Irish Republican Army accused the Ulster Defense Association of giving a green light to sectarian killings "on the scale hitherto unknown." It declared: "A new phase of sectarian killings will not be tolerated. The IRA will utilize all its resources to end sectarian killings for all time."

The UDA said the IRA men were murderers and hypocrites, and "we will not permit them to thrive."

"IRA War on the UDA," said a banner across the front page of the Irish Press in Dublin.

British army sources feared the troops would be caught in the middle.

The assassins continued working Wednesday night.

A cry of "Hey, you!" halted a 17-year-old Catholic boy walking home in Belfast. When he turned, a gunman shot him in the stomach. His condition today was critical.

A police officer was shot in the back as he parked his car at his home in Downpatrick, County Down. Stray bullets went through a window of the house and hit his 9-year-old daughter. Both were in serious condition.

Gabriel Savage, 17, was kissing his 16-year-old girl friend goodnight when his killer arrived.

The men dragged him from her arms and bundled him into a car as she screamed in terror. They drove away, shot him through the head and left his corpse in a ditch.

Savage was the third Roman Catholic teen-ager slain in Northern Ireland this week, presumably by Protestant terrorists.

Committee sets May BIE date

Preliminary plans for the annual BIE Day were mapped at a meeting of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce Educational Committee Wednesday in the Chamber conference room.

Bruce Galloway, committee chairman, said the annual BIE Day will be held May 2 and 3, but the committee is still uncertain on a site and on transportation for the students. There will be two morning sessions from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and an evening session May 3 starting at 7 p.m.

Galloway said the Educational committee is still working to lay the groundwork for the program as far as keynote speakers are concerned and will meet with superintendents of the Washington C. H. and Miami Trace School districts next week in hopes of completing the plans.

President admits American held by China CIA agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has publicly admitted that an American captured in China 20 years ago was a CIA agent, but administration officials say it was not an effort to trade for the man's early release.

Other government sources had acknowledged the espionage role of John Thomas Downey and Richard Fecteau when their plane was shot down, but Nixon was the first U.S. official to put it on the record during his Wednesday news conference.

The old official line had been that Downey and Fecteau were civilian employes of the Army whose plane was downed when it strayed off course on a flight from Korea to Japan.

In the period leading to Nixon's China trip last year Fecteau was released after serving 19 years of a 20-year sentence. Downey's original sentence was 30 years, but in December 1971 the remaining term was cut to five years.

The matter came up when a reporter asked Nixon about Americans held by the Chinese. He answered that "we have every reason to believe" that two military pilots shot down during the 1960s will be released "as the POW situation is worked out in Vietnam."

The pilots, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert Flynn and Air Force Maj. Philip Smith, were shot down in separate missions involving Vietnam reconnaissance missions.

"Downey," Nixon said, "is a different case, as you know. Downey involves a CIA agent."

White House and State Department sources say Nixon was only stating fact, not attempting to trade the admission for Downey's release.

In fact, the President told reporters, "we have no assurance that any change of action, other than the commutation of the sentence, will take place."

However, he emphasized such an act by Peking "would be a very salutary action," indicating Downey's early release would be helpful in improving U.S.-Chinese relations.

Nixon cautioned that the Downey case is best handled in a quiet, diplomatic way. "It is not," he said, "one where any public pressures or bellicose statements from here will be helpful in getting his release."

Stock list on upside

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market indulged in a brief rally today but its upward momentum lost some of its steam. Trading was active.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead .23 to 999.25. Gaining issues had a margin of about 7 to 5 over declining stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow had been ahead 6.10 points after the first hour of trading.

"The market was making up lost ground, in a technical rally correcting an oversold condition that developed over the past two weeks," said Larry Wachtel, research director at Bache & Co.

On the Big Board the most active issue was Babcock & Wilcox, up 5/8 to 34 5/8. Most of the action came on a block trade of 500,000 shares at 24 1/4.

On the American Stock exchange the price-change index was up .01 to 25.82.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was up .05 to 62.80.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A weak, nearly stationary warm front stretched east-west across northern Ohio early today and was forecast to move slowly northward. Also influencing Ohio's weather is a storm moving slowly north out of Oklahoma. A cold front extending southeast of the storm is expected to pass through Ohio late tonight.

Rain was forecast to spread over Ohio today, bringing with it thundershowers over most of the state by evening. Rain will continue into the night, but taper off to showers in the southwest by late tonight.

Highs today were forecast to reach the 50s this afternoon, then not dip much below the mid 40s over the state tonight.

The cold front passing through Ohio late tonight will cause temperatures to remain steady or fall slowly Friday.

Skies were generally cloudy overnight. Lows early today ranged from the mid 30s to low 40s.

Pentagon papers coverup claimed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A retired Air Force officer has told jurors in the Pentagon papers trial of secret orders to remove from government files reports which could help acquit Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo.

The government, trying to refute the testimony, continues cross-examination of Lt. Col. Edward A. Miller today before questioning the man alleged to have written a memo about the orders, Charles Hinkle, director of the Office of Security Review (OSR).

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, former researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspracy and theft in connection with the release to news media of the Pentagon papers, a top secret history of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Local students to participate in Junior Achievement Exposition

JAXPO 73, the Junior Achievement Exposition, will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Lausche Building on the Ohio State Fairground.

Among the 70 J.A. companies, operated by some 1,500 students respresenting 51 area high schools, will be the three Fayette County companies, whose members will be displaying and manufacturing in their booths.

Ramco II, sponsored by Armco Steel Products Div.; Banco, sponsored by the Washington Savings Bank, and ABS, co-sponsored by the Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Washington C.H. Jaycees, will also have their products for sale.

The booths will be occupied through the two days by all members of the companies, working in shifts. Hours on both Saturday and Sunday are from 12 noon until 8:30 p.m.

An added attraction will be "Professions on Parade", featuring many professional organizations, to give students, both J.A. and non-J.A. members, a chance to get information on career opportunities in various fields.

Throughout the weekend, entertainment will be provided for the JAXPO audience, including a Pro-Am Talent Show, a Miss J.A. contest, a rock band, a church choir and a host of high school performers.

One of the top features of the program will be the appearance of Donna Jean Young, of NBC's Laugh-In. She will be on hand at noon Saturday for ribbon-cutting ceremonies. She also will serve as a judge for the Miss J.A. contest Saturday evening and will be available for interviews.

Chairman of JAXPO 73 is Robert Murchake, partner of Ernst and Ernst, Columbus, and Robert J. Kolacki is program coordinator. Admission to the exposition is $1 for adults. Students of high school age and under are admitted free.

Propane needs nearly complete

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With 99 per cent of Ohio's corn crop and 92 per cent of the soybeans harvested, there no longer is a large demand for propane gas to dry the grain, the Public Utility Commission says.

John Gordon, commission director of transportation, said the commission still has about 450,000 gallons of propane to allocate to distributors who might need it.

There was a crucial shortage of propane gas in January when farmers needed it to dry water-logged crops at a time when the fuel was needed to heat homes and businesses.

Harvesting had to await a hard freeze because of muddy fields resulting from extended wet weather late last year.

Slaying draws term of life, 20 years

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Sams, 19, today began a life term plus 20 years for the fatal shooting of a Cincinnati police detective during an aborted holdup in December, 1971.

Sams was convicted Wednesday of first-degree murder and unlawful entry of a bank, by a Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury.

Detective Howard Smith was shot trying to stop a holdup of a Fifth-Third bank branch. Two others were arrested.

There are so many lakes in Canada that they have never been counted.

Opinion And Comment

The follow-through is weak

A twelfth of the way into the new year, the fallout of broken resolutions already is substantial. Another month or so will see a large percentage of the year's end good intentions fallen by the wayside.

This judgment, based on past experience, derives new support from a clinical study made by two psychologists at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. The psychologists, Profs. G. Alan Marlatt and Burt Kaplan, sought to learn more about how the exercise of will power or self-control may change personal behavior. Their findings, based on study of 128 student volunteers, point to the conclusion that resolutions are not generally a very useful means of changing our ways.

This is true in particular, it seems, of resolutions to stop an old activity — a "bad habit" of some sort. On the average, such resolutions were kept only 32 days, while resolutions to start some new activity lasted 51 days.

It also turned out that young women make more resolutions than young men, and keep them longer: the girls, on the average, made 3.2 resolutions and adhered to them for 44 days; the men made 2.6 resolutions and kept them for 41 days.

The jackpot question is: Why were resolutions broken? For answer the psychologists had to depend on the volunteers' own judgments. It is noteworthy that 30 per cent said they broke resolutions deliberately. Ten per cent blamed mere forgetfulness; more than one-third blamed circumstances beyond their control.

Only 24 per cent admitted lacking the necessary will power to carry on. Various conclusions are possible, but one stands out: Most of us, for all our good intentions, tend to make excuses for ourselves when we fail to follow through.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Texas power in Nixon regime

WASHINGTON — You could never mistake Lyndon Baines Johnson's origins. He was a Texan through and through, schooled in the politics of that state where political life is a form of guerrilla warfare.

That was one reason for his masterful command of the Senate when he was majority leader in the years leading up to his nomination as Vice President on the ticket with John F. Kennedy. His presence on that ticket contributed much to the narrow victory over the Republican candidate, Richard Nixon. Certainly, it was why Texas went Democratic in 1960.

In his triumph is his own state and in the nation, there was the curious dichotomy of Texas politics. He was a split personality between the populism of the past, the welfare programs of the Great Society, and big oil and big money. Johnson wanted to be first in both departments and until the Vietnam war overwhelmed him, he had largely succeeded.

The heritage of this duality, having your political cake and spreading it with the butter of the big-oil boys, has made Texas increasingly a Republican fief. If the name of the game is money, then play it where the money is. A breakdown would show that contributions to the $47 million Nixon campaign kitty rolled in from Texas in bigger amounts than from any other state. With Mexico close at hand, the more cautious among the big-oil donors laundered their contributions by passing them through Mexican bank accounts.

THE HEIR to this sharing of the wealth is Johnson's protege, John Connally, the former governor who climbed the golden ladder by administering the estate of one of the great oil fortunes. In the Nixon Administration as secretary of the treasury he won not only the admiration of the President, but personal attachment.

The Connally virtue for Nixon is that his friend, who was chairman in the campaign of Democrats for Nixon, always knows exactly what he wants. For someone like the President, who has had a succession of public and private crises, this steely reassurance counts for more than any other quality.

It is why sometime around midyear he will in all probability be brought back into the Administration. He can star again, when troubles pile up with Congress over the budget, as the great head knocker. That was his starring part when he put over in August, 1971, the currency revaluation and the import surcharge. Heads foreign and domestic were knocked together.

With the Republican upsurge in Texas, President Nixon is bringing another powerful, moneyed Texas into his Administration. He has nominated William P. Clements Jr. to be Deputy Secretary of Defense, a position in the vast corridors of the Pentagon second only to that of the secretary and in some ways with the special duties assigned to the deputy almost as important. He is chairman of the board of SEDCO, Inc., an oil drilling company that he built to a place on the New York Stock Exchange, making him many times a millionaire.

CLEMENTS, who badly blotted his copy book at his confirmation hearing by declining to rule out the possibility of nuclear weapons in Vietnam, is a friend and associate of Texas' Republican Sen. John Tower. Tower was re-elected in November with 53.8 per cent of the vote as against 67 per cent for Nixon. While supporting the Republican presidential ticket, Connally voted for statewide Democrats.

A hardliner, Clements served on the Blue - Ribbon Panel, a citizens group that recommended greatly increased defense appropriations. So far as is known, the deputy was nominated without consultation with incoming Secretary of Defense Elliott L. Richardson, who is giving up HEW to take on the hydra-headed monster in the Pentagon. He is a cultivated public servant out of a Boston Brahmin background. At Clements' hearing Tower, introducing him, contributed this:

"He may not know all the four-bit words that Mr. Richardson knows, but he can be a very articulate and powerful persuader."

Tower's Democratic oppoent was Barefoot Sanders, a contemporary version of the populism of the past. Potentially he is the Lyndon Johnson of, say, 20 years ago. Whether anything remains of that past or whether it has been wholly obscured by a massive coating of the green stuff only a bold prophet would say.

It is a troubling question as the tributes to Lyndon the Great go on and on.

Telephone trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you get tired of hearing when you try to use any telephone in America:

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Whom shall I say is calling, please?"

"He's not in the office, sir."

"He's in conference."

"He's on vacation."

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Will you hold?"

"Did you ever get your party? No? Let me try again."

"It's me — your wife. What other woman would you be expecting to call you at 9:30 in the morning?"

"I don't know of anyone working here under that name. Does he have an alias?"

"He was here just 10 minutes ago, but — ."

"This is the third time I've left your message on his desk."

"What did you say your name was? Did you say Jawbone Slevsky? How do you spell it, please?"

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree. The line is busy."

"Here are three other numbers where you might be able to reach him. By the way, if you get him, tell him the boss is looking for him, too."

"Yes, he's in, but he told me not to disturb him unless it was God or one of His archangels calling."

"Well, sir, I assure you I am doing my best. But I'm a telephone operator — not an octopus."

"... This is a recording ... This is a recording ... This is a recording."

"He just stepped away from his desk for a moment, sir."

"The number you are dialing is no longer active. If you need further information, please dial Information."

"Yes, sir, he's in now, but he's speaking on both his other phones at the moment."

"Would you care to speak to anyone else in his absence?"

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree, the line is busy, and I can't break in unless it is a life or death emergency."

Reagan may run for Senate post

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he won't seek a third term, even if party leaders attempt to draft him. But Reagan has left open the possibility of seeking the U.S. Senate seat of Democrat Alan Cranston in 1974.

Reagan, who will be 62 next week, announced Tuesday he will not seek a third term, and he said he has no timetable for announcing whether he will go up against Cranston, who plans to seek re-election.

"THERE YOU GO, PAT, LEADING AGAIN."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Atheist turns cold shoulder on gesundheit

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? A girl in our office sneezed, so I said, "God bless you." Instead of thanking me, she said, "You don't have to bother with that. I'm an atheist!"

NON PLUSSED

DEAR NON: I wouldn't have done anything. But the good care of herself because if she ever gets pneumonia she won't have a prayer.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I am actually writing a "Dear Abby" letter. My husband just left for "Bosses Night" and I'm sitting here with red eyes.

"Bosses Night" is a once-ayear affair, which features dinner, live music, and no spouses! My husband thinks it's nice. I think it stinks!

I told my husband that if my work had a similar function, he would strongly object to my going, and to make him happy I would stay home.

He said I was all upset for nothing. Am I? How would you handle this next year?

FEELING BLUE & SEEING RED

DEAR SEEING: I would get together with a few of the other "bosses' wives' and treat myself to the best entertainment in town.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this girl for a year or so. Things were pretty tight between us. We were supposed to go ice skating last week, but something came up and I absolutely could not make it. I didn't want my girl to sit home, so I asked my best friend to take her.

Well, he took her all right. It turned out he took her skating on Wednesday, to dinner on Thursday, to play tennis on Friday, and to a drive-in movie on Sunday. He would have taken her out Saturday night, too, but he had to work.

I didn't expect this to happen because we were such good friends I thought I could trust him. What should I do?

DON

DEAR DON: Start looking for another girl. But don't blame your friend. If your girl was really "your" girl, she wouldn't have been so easily lured away.

DEAR ABBY: Your computer date girl who was taken for $295 by a phony dating bureau is all wrong. Even though her contract contained phrases like "cannot guarantee" and "whenever possible," they did guarantee some effort on their part, and they are indeed liable for this effort.

By analogy, a medical doctor may state honestly that he cannot guarantee the success of a given treatment or operation. Now,if said doctor performs honestly and fails, that's one thing. But if he merely fails to perform, or performs negligently, that's something else again.

The state bureau agreed to do certain things, and if they did not fulfill their promised obligations, they are nothing but "sweet sue-able"- and the sooner we sue this kind of "sue-age" the better.

Find women still losers in job field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women are as segregated by occupation today as they were 30 years ago, President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers reports.

The council found that with few exceptions, women are still stuck in low-paying jobs and encounter discrimination when they seek more lucrative careers. Its first report on the economic status of women was released Tuesday.

More fact-finding and discussion of the government's role in helping women improve their situation is needed, the council said.

The council cited examples of job prejudice against women: "some clients reject women lawyers, some customers reject automobile saleswomen, and some workers reject women bosses."

It said employers often exaggerate the risk of a woman's job instability or her potential unacceptability to his clientele, and they screen her out of advanced training and advanced positions.

"The low representation of women in positions of responsibility is striking," the report said.

The CEA said many income and job differences stem from assumptions by both men and women that a woman's place is in the home and her job comes second.

The council said women remain as segregated from men by occupation as they were 30 years ago.

FDA ponders approval of pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says it will decide within a few weeks whether to approve "morning-after" birth control pills, already in use on college campuses.

The agency said it will keep secret the recommendations of an advisory committee.

The most commonly prescribed "morning-after," or postcoital, birth control drug is diethylstilbestrol (DES), recently linked to rare vaginal and uterine cancer in scores of young women whose mothers took it during pregnancy to prevent miscarriages.

In the New Hebrides, islanders traditionally scold children by saying, "Be good, or the white man will get you!"

Conferees eye sewage problems

Four Fayette County officials were briefed on new developments in the sanitary engineering field during the three-day Ohio Home Sewage Disposal Conference which ended Wednesday at Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on the Ohio State University campus, Columbus.

Aomong the conferees, who came from Ohio and other states, were County Engineer Charles P. Wagner; Paul Junk, a graduate engineer associated with Wagner's office; Richard Keiser, another county engineering assistant, and County Sanitarian Charles Funk.

Among the subjects covered were the need for better construction of suburban and rural sewage facilities in view of the fact that septic tanks and leaching beds are creating problems because the ground will no longer provide the proper filtration in many areas; the organization of county health districts and the health aspects of the proliferating housing developments outside cities across the country.

Most of those attending the session were county engineers, their aides and sanitarians.

Marriage to cannibal doesn't worry son

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The reason his mother married a cannibal chieftain in Indonesia was to gain material for a book on primitive customs, says the son of explorer Wyn Sargent.

"My mom knows what she's doing," Jim Sargent, 17, said Tuesday. "Mom is writing a book. It's all about customs and things. And the best way to get the material...."

MISS JACQUELINE A. RABB

Feb. 14 wedding date

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jacqueline Ann Rabb, daughter of Mrs. Ruth W. Rabb, of Santa Monica, Calif. and the late Theodore M. Rabb, to Martin Joseph Rohde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Rohde, 643 Willabar Dr., is being announced here.

Miss Rabb is a graduate of Santa Monica High School and attended Santa Monica College.

Mr. Rohde, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, Bliss Business College and Columbus Technical Institute, and his bride-elect are both employed at J.C. Penney's, Eastland Shopping Center, Columbus.

The wedding will be an event of Feb. 14, in Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Church, Refugee Rd., Columbus.

Cleveland schools continue to operate

Sweetheart Dance planned by Zeta Upsilon

Mrs. Roger Pemberton welcomed members of Zeta Upsilon chapter to her home when a pledge ritual for Mrs. Frank Giacomini preceded the meeting. Mrs. Raymond Siegel Jr., was welcomed as a new member.

A skating party is planned soon by the ways and means committee, the date to be announced later.

The annual Sweetheart Dance, planned for Feb. 10 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Legion Hall, will feature The Stoneys with music for dancing.

Valentine gifts were boxed for Rena, of Girlstown, the service project of the chapter, and a Valentine signed for her.

The members will attempt to get tickets for a Bengal football game again this year. Sometime in March, plans for the 25th anniversary of the group will be made.

Mrs. Robert Clary and Mrs. Fred Pitzer served refreshments to Mrs. Rick Kelley, Mrs. Pat O'Conner, Mrs. Charles Bowersox, Mrs. Jim Dunn, Mrs. Edward Eyre, Mrs. Ernest Gettlefinger, Mrs. Joe Morris, Mrs. Jeff Pollard, Mrs. Myron Priest, Mrs. Charles Hamilton Jr., Mrs. Steven Lewis, Mrs. George McCord, Mrs. David Elliott, Mrs. James Coldiron Jr., Mrs. Giacomini, Mrs. Siegel and Mrs. Pemberton.

Mrs. Kelley will be hostess to the members at 8 p.m. Feb. 6.

SEWING FASHION FABRICS

Let the winter winds blow — it's spring in the fabric stores! Among this year's spring fabrics, you'll find more woven synthetics, such as Quiana and texturized polyester.

These woven synthetics present one big sewing problem — puckering. To avoid puckering in seams, hems, zippers, and facings, follow these tips:

Use a fine needle, size 9 to 11. The needle must be sharp; a burred needle pulls threds, producing a puckery look. Sharp scissors are a must, too.

Use a synthetic thread — either cotton-covered polyester core or spun-yarn type.

Adjust the sewing machine until both upper and lower tensions are loosely balanced.

Keep the pressure on the pressor foot as light as possible, but heavy enough to let the fabric feed evenly through the machine. Too much pressure keeps the top layer of fabric from feeding through as fast as the bottom layer and seam puckering results. Try using hand tension to help the fabric feed through evenly. Don't pull the fabric; just apply firm hand tension behind and in front of the needle.

Use a throat plate with a small round opening rather than the throat plate with the wide oval opening used for zigzagging. If you have no other plate, tape paper over the throat plate so the needle creates a smaller hole.

Sew at a moderate even pace with few stops and starts.

Other hints: Puckering is more acute with straight seams, so select a pattern with bias or cross-wise grain seams. Preshrink all findings, including zippers. Most woven synthetics ravel, so a seam finish may be needed.

UPDATE FOR HOME ECONOMISTS

Along with these ideas for fashion sewing, Norma Deyo, O.S.U. extension clothing specialist, shared the new labeling care guidelines with us at an update session for home economists Monday evening at Circleville. Those traveling to the meeting from Fayette County included Mrs. Linda Edwards, Miss Helga Doppleb, Miss Barbara Vance, Mrs. Mary Myers, Mrs. Nancy Davis, Mrs. Kay Wallace, Mrs. Mildred Wheat, Mrs. Annalee Belt and myself.

PERMANENT CARE LABELING

As of July 3, 1972, a new permanent care labeling rule by the Federal Trade Commission was put into effect. This ruling states that all articles of clothing manufactured after July 3 must contain permanent labels explaining laundering or dry cleaning instructions, including what not to do when caring for the garment. Exceptions include "articles intended to be sold at retail for $3 or less which are completely washable under all normal circumstances" and articles whose "utility or appearance would be substantially impaired" by attaching a label. The law applies also to home sewing fabrics, which must be labeled on the bolt and on separate labels to be given to each consumer when the purchase is made.

YOUR CONSUMER RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

—When you shop: Use care labels to predict performance and cost of upkeep in choosing which items to buy.

Expect salespersons at fabric counters to provide care labels suitable for application to each finished garment.

—When you sew: Attach care labels to garments.

—When washing, ironing and dry cleaning: Follow care label instructions.

Observe solvent warnings when using coin-operated cleaning equipment.

Observe warning to professional dry clean only.

Help dry cleaners by informing them of all possible stains. Expect them to follow care labels.

—Speak Up: Share with Federal Trade Commission ideas to improve care labeling.

Complain to store managers if rule appears to be violated. Obtain name of manufacturer and complain in writing.

Complain to manufacturers if care instructions are confusing or appear to result in damage to garments.

Two honored at luncheon

Mrs. Brenton C. Zimmerman, Rt. 2, London, and Mrs. Jean Warner, Prairie Rd., entertained at a noon luncheon Tuesday at the Terrace Lounge, honoring Dr. Bernice O'Briant and Miss Mable Briggs, both of this city, the occasion being their birthdays.

Table decorations consisted of lighted pink candles in crystal holders, and at each place was a pink carnation nosegay, tied with a cerise red ribbon bow.

Seated with the guests of honor were Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, Mrs. Nathan Ervin, Mrs. Laban Pierce, of Jeffersonville, Mrs. Jess Whitmer, Mrs. Martha Braun, Mrs. Olive Brookover, Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Miss Maude Draper, and the hostesses.

Girl Scout cookie ordering begins

This Saturday Girl Scouts throughout the 16 counties of the Seal of Ohio GS Council will begin taking orders for cookies and will continue through Feb. 11. Deliveries will be made March 5-17. Again this year, five delicious flavors will be offered in the large $1-size boxes-Savannahs, Scot-Teas, Mints, Cocoa Fudge, Chocolate and Vanilla Cremes.

What's in a Girl Scout cookie? Democracy, self-reliance, and good citizenship. Girl Scout cookies are not only good to eat, they make it possible for the girls in this community to practice the art of democracy, to develop their self-reliance, and to be good citizens. Help keep Girl Scouting happening in Washington C.H., and do a good turn. Buy Girl Scout cookies . . .a lot of good comes in small packages.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham, of Boomingburg, is Fayette County cookie chairman.

Profits earned through the sale of the cookies will be used by the GS Council to improve and purchase new equipment for campsites and help provide funds for campership. A campership is financial aid to a Girl Scout, who otherwise would not be able to attend one of the many camps throughout the state. Also, individual troop earnings will be used for various activities offered through field trips which provide an education in the out-of-doors and winter camp-ins.

The Center of Science and Industry in Columbus offers a winter camp-in each year in which local scouts participate. Many service projects are made available to Girl Scouts through the cookie sale. Inter-troop activities and projects not otherwise covered with financial funds will be undertaken.

Only Junior, Cadettes and Senior Scouts will be selling the cookies, baked by the Burry Division of the Quaker Oats Company.

Troops in Fayette County who will cover the communities are Junior Troop 267, Mrs. Morrison Gilbert, of Bloomingburg, leader; Troop 1214, Mrs. Charles Webb, Jeffersonville; Troop 329, Mrs. Howard Hixon, Milledgeville; and Troop 612, Mrs. Warren Lemke, Washington C.H.; Cadette Troop 669, Mrs. Donald Moore, of Bloomingburg; and Senior Troop 747, Mrs. Dwight Foy, Washington C.H.

U. S. Army runs 'Charm School'

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

FT. LEE, Va. (AP) — Here the Army trains soldiers—to make tasty penguins out of hard-boiled eggs, carve swans out of ice, groom dogs and empty ash trays.

Other lessons range from bartending to flower arranging.

The purpose is to prepare enlisted men, all volunteers for the program, for the job of making Army generals and their families more comfortable. Or, as an Army spokesman explains it, "to put the commanding officer and his family in the forefront of the Army installation and the community."

Some program critics call the personal aides servants. Most generals get one aide for each star on their shoulders.

During a visit to Ft. Lee, an officer was asked directions to the training school. "An enlisted aides course?" he said. "Oh, you mean the charm school. Over there."

He pointed to a two-story, World War II-era building that has been remodeled to include five apartments. Each resembles a general's quarters and includes a living room, dining room, two bedrooms and a bathroom. Red and white carnations are carefully arranged on many tables.

The Army's enlisted aides course has been located in the building since the program started in January 1969. Courses are given six times a year, and the Army reports a total of 404 graduates. The waiting list of generals requesting aides is now at about 80. Some generals don't ask for aides, according to the spokesman.

He said soldiers spend 70 hours learning the duties and responsibilities of an enlisted aide, 109 hours on management of dining facilities and 137 hours on "the advanced principles of cooking, baking and garnishing."

Duties listed in the course outline include pet care, cleaning a general's quarters, care of officer's uniform and equipment, preparation of center pieces and ice carvings and watering plants.

Helping a general's wife includes reminding her of appointments, providing her with transportation and assisting her role as hostess, according to the outline.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, FEB. 2

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

There may be undesirable antagonism to combat: You are adept at this. Do not hesitate to call a conference, meet with other heads to better relationships.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Consult with others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually pass them with flying colors.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Especially favored now: Regular work and business matters, creative pursuits, scholastic interests, government projects. Some changes evolving; will please later.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may encounter some interference, but it should be a generally good day for accomplishment. Are your goals still the best? Your methods practical? Think it over now.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Give your imagination more rein, but keep track of its wanderings. You have all the tools needed for success, so go forward — confidently hopeful of all outcomes.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Leo, aspects suggest control of the imagaination. This includes worry over ills, how others accept your efforts, etc. Stress optimism.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

By-pass the irrelevant and immaterial. This is a day for making top-rank gains if you begin early and follow through, displaying your capabilities effectively.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Past efforts should be bearing fruit now. Study tendencies and changes that may seem odd, but may hold new advantages.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Use the techniques which have proved potent in the past, but also be ready to consider new angles, methods, etc. Romance favored.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mild influences. How this day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your brains and wits to bring out the effective and eliminate the useless.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

As with Capricorn, this day's success is in YOUR hands. Don't wait for leads; seek hidden advantages. They're yours for the taking.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You should be able to handle and interpret matters, problems, ably now. If you need more information before acting, consult an expert in the field.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, unusual versatility and a bouncing, volatile personality. You are a gay and witty conversationalist; are at ease as a listener and are extremely democratic in choosing friends and associates. Your talents run to the creative and, properly educated, you could shine as a journalist, writer of short stories, musician or entertainer. Science and the graphic arts may also appeal to you. You are enthusiastic about anything you undertake and, if called upon to lead, can always come up with the know-how and, often, an extraordinary gimmick or surprise tactic.

PUCO eyes small phone companies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Public Utilities Commission Chairman Henry Eckhart says a check needs to be made on service provided by Ohio's independent telephone companies.

Eckhart said PUCO research showed Ohio's four largest independent telephone companies are averaging about nine times the number of complaints as the two Bell companies operating in the state.

In 1971, Ohio Bell and Cincinnati Bell averaged 1.53 complaints per 10,000 main stations, Eckhart said.

In comparison, the four independent companies—United, General, Mid Continent and Northern Ohio—had an average of 16.5 complaints per 10,000 main stations.

Eckhart attributed part of the increase in complaints to a new regulation requiring all telephone companies to list the PUCO's phone number, and increased PUCO activity.

"The independent companies and the Commission must take a new hard look at service being provided to this portion of Ohio's telephone subscribers," he said.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. shows earnings drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's second largest steel maker, Bethlehem Steel Corp., announced today its profits for the year 1972 dropped 3.3 per cent to $134.58 million.

The announcement came a day after top-ranked U.S. Steel reported only a slight boost in its 1972 profits.

Small town survives advent of interstate highway

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — No need to pity this small riverfront community. The concrete snake we call an interstate highway did no great harm.

In fact, it's been a boon.

Like hundreds of other little towns, Carrollton was fearful when the traffic flow from its main street, a major intercity highway, was siphoned off by the new interstate four miles away.

'I'd say at least half of the tow was afraid, especially the fellows who depended on tourists—like me," Tommy Combs, owner of a small motel, said.

Carrollton, population 4,200, is situated on U.S. 42, halfway between Louisville and Cincinnati. It has both the Ohio and Kentucky rivers on its borders, but isn't a port of call for either of them.

For years, the steady parade of cars and trucks poured through the town, a percentage of them stopping for rest, food or lodging and making Carrollton just a little bit richer.

Then, in the summer of 1969, I-71 was opened to traffic.

"So many people here made the remark that they'd seen other towns where the interstates killed 'em," Randall Kelly, a liquor store clerk, recalled.

But, for Carrollton, it wasn't that way at all. If anything, the community has prospered since that summer day in 1969 and the concrete snake called I-71 has helped it.

"When the interstate road first opened, we had a reduction in traffic flow, of course," H. C. Fryman, assistant cashier at a local bank, said.

"But this was mainly heavy trucks and that sort of thing and those people weren't stopping here much anyway. For them, our being centrally located didn't mean much. They just wanted to get to Louisville or Cincinnati as fast as they could," he added.

William G. "Butch" Livesay, who operates a restaurant and bar, figures the profit and loss regarding the interstate just about balanced out as far as Carrollton was concerned.

And having a state park next door was the key, he said.

"Sure there was a lot of traffic here on 42, but the volume is probably double or triple that on I-71 and if you've got that many people on the interstate, there are bound to be more that stop off," he said.

"And, in the summer, we have a lot of tourist trade and Gen. Butler State Park brings a lot of that," his wife, Lynne, said.

Then, too, Carrollton now is the world's second largest Burley tobacco market "and I think that helps bring people into the town," waitress Emma Sherman said.

During the 15 years that I-71 was on the drawing board, industry came to Carrollton. Dow Corning has a plant just outside town; a division of American Can Co. is situated closer to the city limits and Kentucky Utilities Co. has an expanding power plant eight miles north, at Ghent, Ky.

"We never would have bought up this plant site except for the interstate," Arthur Mandell, plant manager for American Can's M&T chemical plant, said, adding that he employs 310 persons.

Of course, everyone couldn't profit from the new road. "It always happens to a small town. When you get good roads leading out of it, your customers leave home to shop," grocer Harold Carlisle said.

"But, really, I can't see much difference in my business," he added. Neither can Combs, the hotel owner.

"I believe there are as many traveling people spending money in Carrollton as there were when they traveled old 42," Combs said.

LAST OF THE FAMILY — This rickety wooden bridge which carries Miami Trace Road over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the former flagstop of Glendon, bleakly awaits the wreckers. March 6 has been set as the date for opening bids on a new concrete beam span which County Engineer Charles P. Wagner estimates will cost in the neighborhood of $115,000. The county and state will cooperate in financing the new two-lane bridge. Wagner believes that the present one-laner, which shivers and creaks under automobile traffic, was built around 1880 when both the B&O and Pennsylvania lines ran many passenger trains and freight drags beneath it on parallel tracks. The Pennsy has abandoned its rails, using B&O trackage under a lease arrangement for its half dozen weekly runs south of Washington C.H. The antique bridge, the last all-wood structure of its kind in the county, is located about 500 feet northwest of the CCC Highway. The photos above, taken by R-H photographer Ed Summers, indicate not only the tottery age of the span but also the lack of visibility at the approaches.

Thorns seen in rosy economic picture

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You can detect in President Nixon's economic report to Congress the satisfaction of a man who feels he has wrestled some very big economic problems and now has them nearly tamed and responsive to his will.

While the general prediction is that it will be another "very good" year, he said, "I believe it can be a great year." And in the spirit of things he has set some goals that critics might think quite optimistic.

But it is clear too that he is extremely wary that these very same problems, inflation especially, might challenge his leadership. It can be a great year, he said, only if we are prudent. By implication: more restraint, less self-indulgence.

These are some of the pocketbook goals the President has set:

—A continued reduction in the inflation rate to around 3 per cent, averaged out for the year, and a rate of even less than that during the final months of 1973.

This is a critical goal and one to watch all year long. Many private economists feel the rate will be 3.5 per cent or above. Moreover, they fear it might be rising rather than falling as the year progresses.

It also is a goal that can be reached only by a bumpy road. Food is expected to make headlines in the next few weeks as record-high farm prices arrive at the checkout counter. It won't seem like inflation is receding.

The administration concedes it has set its sights high, and it appears to be relying both on the self-discipline of producers and consumers in exercising restraint, and the discipline of the big stick it hasn't used so far.

—Less optimism is shown in regard to employment. It is even suggested that the level of idleness that must be tolerated has been raised from 4 per cent of the work force to 4.5 per cent, at least for 1973.

The job goal is for a jobless rate of about 4.5 per cent by late in the year, compared with 5.6 per cent last year and 5.9 per cent in 1971. The rate last year fell through the months to a 5.1 per cent level in December.

While an earlier figure of 4 per cent had been set as the goal, without a specific date for achieving it, the administration is seemingly wary that to seek that level too quickly might force prices higher.

Economically, full employment is not full employment. It is the rate of joblessness that can be supported without producing shortages of skill that, in turn, push up labor costs and then prices.

Millions of Americans will generally be out of work at any one time: unable to work, between jobs, laid off and looking, unskilled and otherwise idle.

—Incomes are projected to rise sharply in 1973. This doesn't mean that bigger pay raises are forthcoming, but it does mean that people will have more money to spend because inflation will be reduced.

In addition, billions of dollars in tax refunds already are beginning to filter back to those who had too much money withheld during 1972. Billions of dollars is on its way back to consumers.

—Good prospects are foreseen also for homebuyers, as more than 2 million units become available for the third straight year. Add to that figure a rough total of one-half million mobile homes and you have a boom.

If that level is achieved it will tend to keep prices from rising sharply as in the previous two years, when there was a larger backlog of unsatisfied demand. But continued increases in lumber prices and slightly higher mortgage rates might offset those gains.

Hold discussions on troop cuts

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — NATO allies and their Communist counterparts planned further informal discussions today in their attempt to set up negotiations on mutual troop reductions in Central Europe.

The preliminary talks between the United States, the Soviet Union and 17 other European nations began Wednesday and are expected to continue for some weeks. Western diplomats hope all the preliminary will be ironed out in time to get down to substantive negotiations in the fall.

"We are only at the beginning," said Jonathan Dean, head of the U.S. delegation, as he entered the first meeting in the Hofburg, once the palace of the Austrian emperor.

Face death charges

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Sam Keener, 18, and Scott Stupelli, both of Steubenville, pleaded innocent in municipal court Wednesday to first-degree murder charges in the weekend beating death of Chester Rogers, 77.

Two minor crashes reported

Only two minor traffic mishaps were reported in the city-county area overnight by police and sheriff's departments. One driver was cited for a traffic law violation.

Police cited Frances I. Blair, 58, Rt. 3, for failure to yield right of way following a two-car crash at the intersection of High Street and Fairway Drive at 12:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers said the Blair car was southbound on Fairway and pulled onto High Street, colliding with the right side of a westbound car driven by Ernest B. Raunhorst, 58, of 1326 Nelson Place. Damage was minor.

One woman escaped injury when her car slid off U.S. 62, just south of the city, and overturned on its side Wednesday morning.

Sheriff's Deputies reported Lorain A. Morter, 70, Rt. 1, was northbound on U.S. 62 when her car failed to negotiate a left turn onto the temporary bypass. The car slid off the right side of the highway down an embankment where it overturned on its right side. Damage to the 1964 model car was moderate.

Change sought in dead listing for sailor

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A suit has been filed in U.S. District Court here seeking to have the status of Navy hospital corpsman Mark V. Dennis changed from killed in action to missing inn action.

The suit, filed by Jerry Dennis, a brother, asks for an immediate, temporary restraining order, arguing that to continue listing Dennis as killed may jeopardize his life if he is now in a prisoner of war camp in Southeast Asia.

The Navy says Dennis was killed in July, 1966, in the crash of a helicopter in Quang Tri Province in South Vietnam. But on the basis of medical tests on the exhumed remains, and contradictory records, his family has been trying for more than two years to get his status changed.

The suit argues that to list Dennis as dead deprives him of his constitutional rights of due process of law, equal protection under the law and the privileges and immunities of a U.S. citizen.

Woman hospitalized in car-train crash

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Irma Joan Starbird, 47, remained hospitalized with a broken hip after her car struck a moving Baltimore & Ohio freight train in northern Hamilton County Wednesday.

She was cited for ignoring a railroad crossing signal.

Rodents can move their jaws sideways as well as up and down.

Study 5 office complexes to satisfy state's needs

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Public Works has been developing a long-range plan for state office space needs that focuses on the construction of about five small office complexes in downtown Columbus.

Public Works Director R. Wilson Neff said Wednesday that he favors building "a few" small office complexes rather than renting space or building another structure like the 41-story office tower now under construction.

Neff said his department is studying the state's space needs for the next 15 years with an eye towards meeting Gov. John Gilligan's goal of centralized offices in Columbus.

"We would feel that the state should own its own complexes," the director said.

"Obviously, something needs to be done if the state departments are going to be combined in a central location," he said. "Our feeling is that we want to go to smaller buildings which maintain a functional identity and that are more noticeable to the public."

As an example, Neff said, "It is natural to think of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Departments of Commerce and Insurance in a commercial building."

He also suggested combination of the departments of Employment Services and Welfare and the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation in a social services building.

Neff said the buildings should be small enough to be convenient to the public, but he added, "Guessing what size these offices are going to be is an exercise in itself."

Wallace's POW on North Viet list

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. Gorge C. Wallace is one of many Americans who vowed to wear a bracelet bearing the name of a prisoner of war in North Vietnam until the POW returned home.

The governor's bracelet bears the name of an Alabama serviceman, Air Force 1st Lt. Richard McDow, 26, of Columbiana, who was captured June 27, 1972. McDow's name was on the list of POW's the Pentagon says will be returning within 60 days.

Sigmoidoscopy Is Not Surgery

I have been told I must have a sigmnoidoscopy. I received very little further explanation and wonder if this procedure is a surgical one.

Mrs. J.K., Ill.

Dear Mrs. K.:

A sigmoidoscopy is not a surgical procedure. An instrument, the sigmoidoscope, is gently and painlessly inserted into the rectum. With a magnifying lens, the lower end of the large intestine can be minutely examined.

Small erosions, ulcerations, polyps, and inflammations can be studied by direct vision. When necessary, small pieces of tissues can be removed for microscopic study.

The slight discomfort of this office procedure is compensated by the valuable information attainable. These findings, in addition to the barium X-ray study of the large bowel, give your physician the information he needs for an accurate diagnosis.

I cannot help commenting on your statement that you received "very little further information" about this procedure. Sometimes patients, in their anxiety, do not remember the information given to them by a doctor. Unless one understands exactly what the doctor suggests, confusion must result.

The patient, too, plays an important role in "receiving" an explanation. Patients must repeatedly request from their doctors full explanation of the treatment they are about to receive. Without this, the relationship between the doctor and patient is in jeopardy and anxiety inevitably results.

Can you tell me something about distilled water? Would it help arthritis and improve circulation?

Mrs. W.C., La.

Dear Mrs. C.:

The process of distillation occurs when water is heated to the boiling point and then the steam is allowed to condense. The process is used for the purification of water. Excess minerals and other substances are thus removed.

It is interesting that when distilled water is exposed to the air, it tends to again pick up some of the impurities in the air.

There is no relationship between the use of distilled water and arthritic or circulatory disturbances.

It really is astonishing how such misinformation arises and then is generously spread from one friend to another. That which is a source of disturbance to doctors is that people who readily accept such misinformation are less likely to seek professional advice for their medical problems.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Ski-mobiles are exciting and invigorating. Unfortunately, many young people without licenses and often without responsibility to themselves and to others are allowed to use these machines. The penalties for the serious accidents that result can last a lifetime.

High Court to review death case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has agreed to look into a question of whether a Franklin County youth should go on trial as an adult on a murder charge.

It accepted for review Wednesday the case of Charles E. Carmichael, charged with first-degree murder in the shooting June 25, 1971, of Donald Reed of Columbus.

The defendant was ordered by the Franklin County Juvenile Court to stand trial as an adult over defense objections claiming the order resulted from hearsay evidence.

In other cases, the court let stand the conviction of Robert Ware on four counts of first-degree manslaughter stemming from an interstate highway crash which killed four persons, and left undisturbed second-degree murder and shooting with intent to kill convictions of William Brady Kearns of Ironton.

Records showed Ware's car was going the wrong way on Interstate 75 in Warren County when it crashed into another vehicle driven by Frances A. Rudokas, who was killed, along with Alice Rowe, Carol Ann Pfau, and Elizabeth Spillmore.

The conviction of Kearns in Lawrence County Common Pleas Court followed the May 17, 1970, fatal shooting of Joseph Campbell and the wounding of Raymond Campbell in the same incident.

Opening lead - three of spades.

Here is a hand played in a rubber bridge game by Camillo Pabis Ticci, member of the Italian Blue Team that has dominated the bridge world for many years.

The bidding was sporting, to say the least, especially East's double of six hearts. Ordinarily, South would have to lose two spade tricks and go down one, but Pabis Ticci managed the affair exceptionally well and wound up making the slam.

West led the three of spades. Declarer realized that the lead was probably a singleton and accordingly initiated steps to avoid losing two spade tricks. After winning the spade with the ace, he played the king of trumps and ruffed a club.

Pabis Ticci then cashed the ace of diamonds and trumped a diamond, after which he ruffed the jack of clubs and trumped his last diamond. He next led the king of clubs but, instead of ruffing it, discarded the right of spades. West won the club with the ace, but then had to lead a diamond or a club.

This permitted Tabis Ticci to ruff in dummy as he shed the last spade from his hand, and the outcome was that he made six hearts redoubled for a plus of 2,220 points, instead of going down one for a minus of 400 points.

The loser-on-loser play worked to perfection and there was nothing the defenders could do to stop it from succeeding. In effect, Pabis Ticci lost a club trick he didn't have to lose — but got the trick back with compound interest.

Man re-arrested; police red-faced

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police who arrested a 24-year-old man on larcency by trick charges last week have re-arrested the man and added another charge, "the flim-flam of us".

Detectives said after Ricardo G. Palen was re-arrested Tuesday that after his first arrest last Wednesday he had offered to stage a heroin purchase for them.

3rd letter bomb defused in Rome

ROME (AP) — Postal authorities have discovered the third letter bomb in six days addressed to a movie actress, the latest one sent to Elsa Martinelli.

Officials reported Tuesday that the bomb addressed to Miss Martinelli caught fire at the Pisa railway station as the bag containing it was being loaded into a mail coach. It was defused at the Rome railway station post office.

New defense chief puzzled by Laos bombing secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — On his first day as secretary of defense, Elliot L. Richardson asked what many Americans have been asking for years: Why the secrecy surrounding the U.S. air war in Laos?

"I hope to have an answer pretty soon," said Richardson.

The issue was raised Wednesday during Richardson's first news conference, and the secretary replied he had asked that question himself after taking office the previous day.

The new Pentagon chief didn't say to whom his question was directed, but it seemed obvious he was referring to the White House and, more specifically, to the office of presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

Despite the Vietnam ceasefire, U.S. planes have hit Communist positions in Laos for four consecutive days. All the Pentagon will say is that American aircraft are continuing operations "at the request of the royal Laotian government."

Although Richardson himself indicated he has strong doubts about the long-standing U.S. policy of carrying on bombing of Laos behind a partial cloak of secrecy, it appears unlikely he will be able to remove the wraps without White House consent.

The indication has been that touchy diplomatic considerations involving the Laotian government—which once considered itself neutralist—are responsible for the refusal to talk about U.S. operations there in any detail.

On another matter restricting newsmen, the Pentagon has clamped tight security around the expected return of more than 500 prisoners of war from Southeast Asia.

Despite a Richardson memorandum Wednesday affirming the principle of free flow of information, "to assure that the American people are fully informed about matters of national defense," newsmen are to be barred from interviewing the POWs immediately on their return.

Pentagon spokesmen say their first concern is for the welfare of the men—to speed them through medical checks at Clark Field in the Philippines and return them to their families without delay.

Another reason for secrecy is concern for prisoners still awaiting release by Hanoi. Any bitter or hostile statements by the first men freed could jeopardize POWs left behind, the Pentagon says.

Heavy rain hits Plains, moves east

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy thunderstorm system rumbled across the Southern Plains today bringing high winds and up to 2 inches of rain to areas between Louisiana and Kansas.

Winds up to 67 miles per hour were clocked Wednesday night at Pine Bluff, Ark., where a house trailer was overturned. No injuries were reported.

Snow whitened areas in a narrow band from the Texas Panhandle through central Kansas, and a heavy-snow warning was in effect for parts of Kansas and Minnesota.

Rain and drizzle made up the northern Mississippi Valley's dreary picture. Gale warnings flew over the Great Lakes and the Pacific Northwest coast.

Clear skies favored New England and most of the Far West with the exception of western Washington and portions of the northern Rockies. A hard freeze hit New England, with subzero temperatures in many places.

Snow flurries brought a fresh layer of powder to the White Mountains of Arizona and to western Montana.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at New Pork, Vt. to 74 at Key West, Fla.

Final war count shows 45,941 dead

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command closed out its scheduled weekly casualty summaries today and announced that 45,941 American servicemen died in action in Indochina from Jan. 1, 1961, until the official start of a cease-fire last Sunday.

The final summary also listed 300,635 Americans wounded in action and 1,811 missing, captured or interned. Another 10,303 American servicemen were listed as having died from nonhostile causes such as aircraft accidents, homicides, suicides and illness.

Local Birch Society forms 'Nix on OSHA' committee

"Under the guise of promoting employe health and safety, the federal government has started a new program that could destroy all private business in this country."

With this warning, Dr. Philip Binzel, a spokesman for the John Birch Society announced that the group is forming the Fayette County "Nix on OSHA" committee, "to expose and then defeat the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration. Our purpose is to show the public the damage that is being done to business by OSHA, and to show businessmen what can be done to get this latest bureaucratic monstrosity repealed," Dr. Binzel declared.

Although many Americans have never heard of OSHA, the "Nix on OSHA" Committee contends that tens of thousands of businessmen across the United States have already felt its impact. According to the "Nix On OSHA" Committee, OSHA compliance officers, armed with a mountain of regulations and documents, can enter any firm or shop without a warning or a warrant, to inspect for violations of federal regulations. Businessmen are subject to fines or imprisonment without a hearing or a trial, and OSHA even has the power to order their businesses closed, the committee contends.

The committee chairman pointed out, "OSHA officials act as prosecutor, judge, and jury in each case. In the first six months of operation, OSHA Compliance Officers visited some 9300 businesses. Of these, over 75 per cent were found guilty of violating some OSHA regulation. And OSHA officials admitted that the remaining companies could also have been found guilty of something if the OSHA officials had looked hard enough."

THE "Nix On OSHA" Committee, which is part of a nationwide network of such groups started by the conservative John Birch Society, has stated: "After almost 200 years of the greatest productivity and technological advance in the history of mankind, the federal government apparently has decided that the men who accomplished such wonders, the American producers and businessmen, are virtual criminals who deliberately endanger the men and women who work for them. We think such an assumption is outrageous. The truth is that federal bureaucrats are using this excuse to control all American business."

The committee believes that most industrial accidents are caused by human carelessness and will, unfortunately, occur from time to time. It points out that virtually every business has already instituted safety procedures, in an effort to reduce such accidents. "Otherwise," Dr. Binzel noted, "it would soon be forced to close down, because there would be no one left to employ."

The Fayette County "Nix On OSHA" Committee is planning to conduct an educational campaign about OSHA in the area, through literature distribution, public programs, and letter-writing. Dr. Binzel added, "This nation-wide network of committees is being started by the John Birch Society, which has repeatedly insisted that the federal government is no longer being run by well-meaning but bungling bureaucrats, but by a new breed of revolutionary activitists who are determined to rule or ruin our entire economy. Now, many American businessmen are reaching the same painful conclusion. There is still time to stop this growing menace, but businessmen and Birchers must work together to do it."

Interested citizens can contact "Nix On OSHA" Committee through the American Opinion Book Store at the Pensyl Camera Shop.

Ohio Perspective

Farmers counting up costs of harvesting

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio farmers sweat and strained this year to switch a disastrous growing season into a delightful payoff.

They hiked their total estimated income by 7 per cent, up to $1.591 billion. That gave them an edge over 1971 of about $104 million.

But, before celebrating, Ohioans have to count heavy extra costs harvesting their bogged-down crops and more banged-up machinery than any year ought to exact. No one really knows the total toll, may never know.

"It was one of the most frustrating seasons," said Dan C. Tucker, U.S. Department of Agriculture statistical chief in Columbus, one of the wettest falls in the books.

After 10 months of 1972, Ohio figured to cash in 13 per cent more income than in the previous year. The comparison through October was $1.251 billion last year compared to $1.115 billion in the first 10 months of 1971-and 1971 was a banner crop year.

But, at normal harvest time the fields were nearly bottomless mud. The entire crop still isn't harvested, despite three January weeks of hard fields on which machinery could maneuver.

Tucker estimated that 95 per cent of both corn and soybean crops are in at month's end.

Soybeans suffered most. The average 1972 yield was 27 bushels to the acre, compared to 30.5 bushels in 1971. But, the average price per bushel this year was $3.40 a bushel compared to only $3.04 a bushel in 1971.

That makes the soybean crop work $278 million in 1972, only $247 million in 1971.

Corn enjoyed a similar edge. Average yield was 90 bushel to the acre compared to the previous record of 91 bushels in 1971, and the average price last year was $1.33 a bushel, in 1971 only $1.06 a bushel.

Corn crop value was $371 million last year compared to $342 million in banner 1971.

The corn cash figure is more than somewhat artificial, however, since about 45 per cent of the corn grown on Ohio farms is not sold, but fed back to Ohio animals.

At this fairly stable rate, farmers actually sold only about $152.9 million of their corn crop, feeding the rest. Livestock produces about 54 per cent of Ohio's total farm income with crops accounting for 46 per cent.

Bondsman arrested for money theft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A bondsman needed a bondsman himself Wednesday after he was charged with "fishing" envelopes containing $981 for other bonds from a safe in the Hamilton County Clerk's office.

James Brooksbank, 32, of Cincinnati, as held to the Hamilton County grand jury under $100 bond. The money was taken during the night of Jan. 21, police said.

WCH hoping to stay afloat in SCOL fuss

Blue Lions entertain upset-minded Indians

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions will be hoping to stay afloat in the hectic South Central Ohio League basketball race Friday night.

Head coach Gary Shaffer's title-hungry Blue Lions will entertain a surprisingly strong Hillsboro bunch, and Washington C. H. must win if it wants to be around when the precious SCOL souvenirs are doled out later this month.

The Lions, who stumbed in last Friday night's action when always-tough Wilmington dished out a 73-67 upset verdict, will be hoping to preserve their first place tie atop the SCOL pack when the revived Indians come calling for the 8 p.m. shootout.

BUT, THERE'S a strong outside possibility that Washington C. H. could emerge with sole ownership of the SCOL's top perch Friday. That's providing the Lions escape with a win over the upset-minded Hillsboro team and Miami Trace wins its crucial shooting match with co-leading Circleville.

Washington C. H., hoping to hoist its first SCOL flag in 17 seasons, will be hoping to improve a 5-2 SCOL chart and 8-6 all-games record in the bout with always-dangerous Hillsboro.

Despite winning three of its last four games, Washington C. H. had a four-game SCOL winning streak scissored when Wilmington chalked up its second win over the Lions this season.

Hillsboro, enjoying another vastly improved season under enthusiastic head coach Robert Ream, will tote a two-game winning skein into Friday's struggle at the WSHS gym.

The unpredictable Indians, owners of a 3-4 SCOL record and 6-7 overall worksheet, have won three of their last four SCOL outings and the victories include upset decisions over Wilmington and Circleville.

Washington C. H.'s big problem Friday will be defensing Hillsboro whiz Don Jewett if it hopes to keep its title chances flickering.

Jewett, the sharpshooting 6-foot-1 senior, holds a spiffy 18.7 point per game marksmanship, which ranks second among the top pointmakers in the SCOL.

THE FLASHY Hillsboro forward has been scoring at a 17.6 norm against seven league opponents.

He will probably be joined at the other corner position by Lawrence Turners, a 6-foot-2 junior, although Ream has juggled his starting quintet several times this year in search of a more suitable combination.

Kevin Bailey, a scrambling 5-foot-8 sophomore, has shouldered a large chunk of Hillsboro's scoring duties this season. Bailey, an effective outside gunman, owns 14.2 points a game scoring credentials. Bailey's backcourt sidekick could be Dave Larimer, a 6-foot-1 junior, or Bill Housh, a 6-foot-0 junior.

Ream will probably employ 6-foot-3 senior Mark Coffman at center. Coffman has given Hillsboro valuable scoring help in the last six games by responding with about 10 points per outing.

442 selected in pro grid draft

NEW YORK (AP) — "Who's Mr. Lucky?" one weary spectator sighed. "Miami selects Charlie Wade, wide receiver, Tennessee State," the National Football League official replied—and, amid cheers of relief, the annual flesh-peddling of collegiate talent finally ground to an end.

It had taken 20 hours and 12 minutes—and 441 other players—to get to that point Wednesday. By that time, whatever suspense and excitement had once been generated in the cavernous ballroom of the Americana Hotel had long evaporated.

Virtually all the stars had been gobbled up by the 26 clubs in Tuesday's portion of the NFL draft. A few—like quarterbacks John Hufnagel of Penn State and Eddie McAshen of Georgia Tech, running backs Rufus Ferguson of Wisconsin and Howard Stevens of Louisville and Olympic gold medal-winning hurdler Rod Milburn of Southern University—were still unclaimed.

For one reason or another, there was no rush to grab them—although they weren't left out in the cold.

The John Matuszaks, the Bert Joneses and the other names which had attracted nearly 200 spectators to the first round of the draft were long gone. And so were the spectators. There were just 15 of them left in the gallery when the 17th and final round began—and three of them were snoozing.

Matuszak was there. The mammoth muscleman from Tampa, who'd once punched a guy at a party because he'd "put his hands on my girlfriend," and is still serving two years' probation because of it, was the first pick by the Houston Oilers.

"Only in America," he grinned "can a guy who's half Irish, one-fourth Polish and a bit Italian play football in Oak Creek, Wis., Fort Dodge, Iowa, Columbia, Mo., and Tampa, Fla., before being drafted No. 1 by a team in Texas.

The 6-foot-7½, 275-pounder with the big mop of curly hair "will become the highest salaried lineman in pro football history," said Boston attorney Bob Wolff, who'll do Matuszak's negotiating with Houston. It could mean a windfall a workable group before we go," he said.

Such dreams of greenbacks are beyond reality for the likes of, say Jeff Davis—but he can dream anyway—and with some justification.

Davis, a running back from what the NFL listed as "Mars Hill, N.C.," was drafted just ahead of Wade, in other words, next-to-last, by the Washington Redskins.

But he probably knows full well that just two years ago the Baltimore Colts' last-round pick, the NFL's 441st, was a guy named Don Nottingham. And if Davis is worried about making a team with runners like Larry Brown and Charley Harraway, he can also remind himself that a man who never even played college football and just showed up one day at the Redskins' open tryout, got a Super Bowl check with the name "Herb Mul-Key" written on it.

Miami, Bowling Green, OU grab MAC basketball wins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— "I'm glad we had the cushion," sighed Miami basketball Coach Darrel Hedric after his Redskins salvaged a 68-64 triumph over Western Michigan Wednesday night.

The victory enabled Miami to maintain its one-game hold on first place in the Mid-American Conference standings, although Bowling Green took over the second slot by virtue of a 51-48 win over Toledo, which dropped into third.

Pre-season favorite Ohio University, co-champions last season with Toledo, kept a flicker of a hope for the league title by defeating Kent State 74-64.

Miami appeared to be on the verge of trouncing Western Michigan. The Redskins scored nine in a row early in the game and had built up a 42-24 lead by halftime.

But the Broncos surged back after intermission, outscoring Miami 21-8 in the first 10 minutes of the second period. and had closed the gap 56-53 with seven minutes to play.

Miami, however, held on for the victory to improve its conference record to 5-1. The Broncos fell further into the league cellar with a 1-5 mark.

Ohio had little trouble in rolling over Kent State to improve its MAC mark to 3-3. The Bobcats took a 10-point advantage in the first half and built it up to as much as 18 points in the second period, although the Golden Flashes closed to within six points at one stage. Kent now is 2-4.

"Let's face it, we have to win the rest," Ohio Coach Jim Snyder said of his team's chances in the conference race. "Bowling Green beating Toledo helped us."

Ex-Blue Lion owns 27.3 average

Wright bonafide All-Ohio

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Just call it a case of rotten luck!

While most high school coaches are hoping for a bonafide All-Ohio candidate to transfer into their school district, Gary Shaffer, head basketball coach at Washington C. H., unfortunately, had one move away two years ago.

Chris Wright, who was a member of the Washington C. H. Blue Lion basketball team as a sophomore before moving to Byesville when his father accepted the superintendent's position in the Rolling Hills School District, is headed for All-Ohio accolades at the rate he's been going.

WRIGHT, a senior at Meadowbrook High School near Byesville, is swishing the nets with a 27.3 point per game average and holds the school single game scoring standard of 48 points.

The 5-foot-10, 160-pound backcourt whiz popped in 48 points Dec. 29 in a game against rival Caldwell High School to eclipse a school record of 41 points he established last season.

He has also turned in blistering 44 and 41 point efforts this season and is the top pointmaker in the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference with a 27.3 point a game credentials.

Following 11 games, at Meadowbrook, Wright had scored 300 points on the basis of 110 field goals and 80 free throws and owned a neat 45.8 per cent field goal shooting percentage. He also was connecting on 77.6 per cent of his free throws and averaged six rebounds, three steals and four assists per game.

Wright's torrid shooting pace had guided head coach Gary Brown's Class AA Colts to a 3-8 all-games record.

Last year the scrambling little guard landed an All-Eastern Ohio District first team berth and was named to the All-Ohio honorable mention list.

Buckeye gridders chosen slowly in picks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I sat by that dagblame telephone all day yesterday, waiting. That's awful."

George Hasenohrl, Ohio State's second team All-American defensive tackle, probably spoke for countless other collegians on what it's like when you are not picked on the opening day of the National Football League draft.

"It's sure a relief. I'm just glad it's over with," said the 258-pounder from Garfield Heights Wednesday after he was picked in the eighth round by the New York Giants.

There had been some talk Hasenohrl, one of five Buckeyes drafted on the second day, would be tried at offensive guard in the pros.

"No, the Giants said defense and I'm glad," said Hasenohrl, who had started three seasons on defense for Ohio State.

"I'm real happy with the Giants. It's close to home, too," he said.

No Buckeyes were picked in the first seven rounds of the draft Tuesday, but three were selected in round No. 8 Wednesday, another in the ninth round and another in the 17th and final round.

Tapped with Hasenohrl in the eighth round were Buckeyes Rick Seifert, a safety from Cuyahoga Falls, by the New York Jets, and John Bledsoe, the No. 3 fullback last fall, who went to the Detroit Lions.

Wingback Rick Galbos of Mentor was chosen by the Washington Redskins in the ninth round, and the last Buckeye to be picked was Earl Belgrave, an offensive tackle from Brooklyn, N.Y., who will go to Detroit.

Miami running back Joe Booker, a 210-pounder from Cincinnati, was the first college player from an Ohio school other than OSU to be picked Wednesday. He was tapped by the Jets in round 13.

Three Ohio players had been chosen Tuesday. They were Youngstown State quarterback Ron Jaworski, by the Los Angeles Rams in the second round; Bowling Green guard Fred Stuart, by the St. Louis Cardinals in the third round, and Central State defensive back Don Walker, by the Buffalo Bills in the fourth round.

Selected in round 14 Wednesday was Dave Juenger, Ohio University's versatile quarterback-wide receiver from Chillicothe. He will go with the Chicago Bears.

Also in that round, the Jets picked Toledo running back-quarterback Joe Schwartz of Adrian, Mich.

Round 16 saw the Jets select John Czerwinski, a Bowling Green tackle from Port Clinton, and the Detroit Lions choose Larry Nickets, a wide receiver for Dayton.

Ohio high school notebook

Marion Pleasant's gridders potent cagers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How would you feel if you were a high school basketball coach and your starters hadn't practiced once before the first game?

"I don't think a basketball coach in his right mind would like it. We had no fundamentals at all," said Stan Kirby, whose regulars all played on the Marion Pleasant state football titlists.

The Spartans' first seven basketball players were playing football the day before they beat Marion Catholic 45-29 in the opener.

Since then, Ohio's second-ranked Class A squad has won 13 more games for a 22-game regular season basketball victory streak. The Marion County school has won 38 in a row in football.

Have the all-winning football ways rubbed off in basketball?

"Don't forget thse kids played in the state basketball tournament two years ago," answered Kirby. "Maybe we've helped football. Don't get the cart before the horse."

Kirby adds, "These kids are just such good competitors. I thought we would have a slow start this year and have to catch up. Instead, I've given them more time off than ever before."

Three of Pleasant's all-state football players, end Terry King, defensive back Max Midlam and quarterback Scott Ballinger, start in basketball.

The other regulars are Dave Mauk, the team's top scorer with 17 points per game and a defensive football halfback, and Larry Fink, a 6-4 erstwhile tackle.

Around Ohio: Two Upper Arlington players ran into each other while stalling for a last shot against fourth-ranked Newark. The Wildcats picked up the ball and Randy Foster's basket with two seconds left gave Newark a 60-58 victory.

Berne Union in Fairfield County had 110 of its 215 pupils sick last week and the school still played a game against Lancaster Fisher, taking an 84-44 loss.

Dan Zarlingo tied a Lowellville school record with 39 points against Lordstown.

Willard, second-ranked in Class AA, hit 60 per cent of its shots (51-86) in whipping Bellevue and Norwalk last week. Mansfield Senior, No. 6 in Class AAA, sank 49 of 74 free throws for a pair of victories over Elyria and Marion Harding.

Youngstown East trailed Youngstown North 22-2 in the second quarter last week, yet won 63-46. East outscored North 61-24 the rest of the game after the slow start.

Boardman meets its tournament nemesis, Akron Central-Hower, Friday. The Youngstown area team has lost in regional play the last two years to Central-Hower.

Flu decked Hamilton Garfield's players and games with Middletown and Cincinnati Aiken last week. Now Garfield mentor Don Gillespie has the illness.

Another turnaround: Springfield Shawnee trailed Covington 16-2 after the first quarter and still won 65-61.

If Toledo St. Francis whips St. John's Friday, the Blue Division title of the Toledo City League will go to St. Francis. Macomber, Central and DeVilbiss are tied for the Red Division lead.

Ted Hipsher tied Ken Brooks' Findlay regular season scoring record of 43 points against Fremont Ross Saturday with Brooks viewing the outburst. Brooks, now an Ohio State freshman, was the first to congratulate Hipsher afterward.

Demand for tickets has forced Adena Buckeye West, 13-0, and Tiltonsville Buckeye South, 9-3, to move their game tonight to the 6,000 seat Steubenville Arena. Class A West won the first meeting of the season 69-56 over Plass AA South.

Phil Saunders, a 6-foot Cuyahoga Heights senior leading Greater Cleveland in scoring, roomed with University of Maryland star Tom McMillen this summer at a basketball camp. "It was a very valuable summer," admitted Saunders, averaging 30 points a game.

A playoff game looms between defending state champion East Tech and Kennedy for the Cleveland East Senate crown after East Tech avenged an earlier loss to Kennedy. Both are 10-1 in the league. St. Ignatius has clinched the West Senate title.

Hamburger and pot roasts replace steaks for military

WASHINGTON (AP) — With food prices rising, the Navy has ordered mess cooks to substitute hamburger for steaks and chops. Army troops will be eating more pot roast.

The armed services—like many housewives—are cutting their grocery bills by substituting lower-priceditems in their menus.

"Menus will be just as nutritious but not as delicious," explained a military food-service officer.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., in a message to all commands, noted a 20-per-cent rise in Navy food costs over the past six months.

The Agriculture Department Tuesday reported a 5 per cent rise in food prices from mid-December to mid-January, a 21-per-cent increase over last January's prices.

Zumwalt, the chief of naval operations, ordered food managers Jan. 11 to "suspend requisitioning of selected high-cost luxury and convenience items" such as steaks, roasts, lamb chops and lobster and to reduce "consumption of other high-cost items."

Similar orders are expected shortly from the Marine Corps.

The Army and Air Force have yet to adopt these drastic measures but officials indicate similar steps may be taken if the price trend continues.

"We're watching very closely the rapid price rise of certain things" such as shrimp, lobster, minute steaks, sirloin and some fish fillets, said the chief of the Army's buying program.

"Steak is still on the menu," said the officer who asked not to be quoted by name, "but we'll have more pot roast and swiss steak than ever before."

The Defense Department had ordered the armed forces to cut beef purchases by 10 per cent in the final four months of 1972. But that order, part of an overall administration effort to reduce beef prices nationwide, has expired.

Also disappearing from chow halls will be frozen asparagus and corn on the cob, frozen raspberries, mixed nuts, frozen pizza and some commercial salad dressings.

"A pretty county retreat," Washington Irving once observed, "is like a pretty wife. One is always throwing money away decorating it."

Cholera killed nearly 400 persons in Indonesia in the first five months of 1972.

New year starts on dry note

The new year started out on a dry note for Washington C.H., with only 2.01 inches of precipitation, both rain and snow, reported by Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer for the city.

The first month's total was 1.37 inches below the 3.38-inch city average for January. But this year's figure was above the January 1972 reading of 1.59 inches.

There was precipitation on 13 of January's 31 days, ranging from a trace on the 10th and 12th to .69 inch on the 4th.

Minimum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 6 above zero on the 10th and 12th to 41 on the 27th. Maximum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 22 on the 7th to 62 on the 18th.

It was "a cold day in January", Jan. 10, to be specific, according to Gale Parrett, Parrott Station weatherman, as he reviewed the month's highs and lows - and the wets. The low on Jan. 10 was one above at Parrott Station, the high, 23; the warmest day was Jan. 17, when the thermometer got to 56, after a low of 28. There was only one 'fair' day, 21 partly cloudy, six days of rain, for a total of 2.53 inches.

The four days of snow, two inches in all, brought the overall precipitation total to 2.53½ inches, slightly under January, of 1972, when the reading was 2.62½ inches. The Ohio average for January is 3.10 inches.

Dayton youths arrested after gun is found

A 17-year-old Dayton youth and his 15-year-old companion were arrested by sheriff's deputies at U.S. 35 and I-71 gas station on concealed weapon and delinquency charges Wednesday.

Officers said the pair had hitch-hiked from their Dayton home to the interchange where they stopped at Douglas Sunoco. Sheriff's deputies were called to the station after attendant Dave Douglas noticed one of the youths was carrying a gun.

Officers searched the two and found a .38 caliber snub-nosed pistol on the 17-year-old youth.

Both were taken to the county jail where they were incarcerated to await Montgomery County authorities. Both youths were charged with being runaways and the 17-year-old with carrying a concealed weapon.

Two Xenia youths, runaways from the Old Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home, who walked into the Sheriff's office Tuesday evening, were treated at Memorial Hospital for severe frostbite of their feet, officers reported.

Officers said the feet of the one youth, wearing tennis shoes, had split open and were bleeding while the feet of the other youth were covered with blisters. The two had left the home Saturday and has slept in barns as they walked along the railroad tracks to Washington C.H.

The two youths were treated in the emergency room and later released to authorities at the home.

DIVORCES ASKED

Two new divorce suits have been filed in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

Patsy Myers, 529½ Third St., has filed suit for divorce against Dick Joe Myers, London Correctional Institute, on grounds of extreme cruelty. The parties were married Aug. 31, 1969 at Washington C. H. and have one child, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks a divorce judgment, custody and support of the minor child and attorney's fees.

Charlotte Ann Montoya, 332 Cherry St., has filed suit for divorce against Luis Montoya, address unknown, on grounds of neglect of duty and that the defendant has been willfully absent from the plaintiff. The parties were married Sept. 2, 1958, in Columbus and have two minor children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks a divorce judgment, custody and support of the minor child and temporary and permanent alimony.

CASES DISMISSED

Six divorce cases have been dismissed in Common Pleas Court. All the cases were dismissed for lack of prosecution.

2 OEO officials resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity have resigned. President Nixon has already made known his intention to dismantle the poverty aid organization.

Those resigning are Director Phillip V. Sanchez and Deputy Director Wesley J. Hjornevik.

Sheriff's Department changes announced

Sheriff Don Thompson has announced the resignation of a deputy dispatcher-jailer and the promotion of another field deputy to the rank of sergeant.

Sheriff Thompson said David Dray has resigned his position as dispatcher - jailer effective as soon as a replacement is hired. Dray, who has held the dispatcher position for the past seven years, is leaving to devote more time to farming.

Dray and his wife live on their 180-acre farm on U.S. 62-S. He said he regretted having to leave the law enforcement field but that the demands of his expanding farm operation made the choice necessary.

Sheriff Thompson said his department already has had 50 applications for the post and expects several more. The dispatcher - jailer's salary starts at $6,900 and is increased to $7,246 within a year.

Sheriff Thompson also announced the promotion of Deputy John L. Emrick to the rank of sergeant.

Emrick, with the department since March 1968, is a 1957 graduate of Washington High School and attended Northwestern University's Traffic Accident School, Case-Western Reserve University Drug Control School, the Bureau of Criminal Investigation Investigator's school and many other police related schools and seminars. Emrick was employed as a meter control officer for the city of Washington for three years before joining the Sheriff's Department. He is married and has one son.

Emrick is the second field deputy elevated to the rank of sergeant during the past year; the other is Sgt. William Crooks.

The department currently is operating with eight field deputies, including Chief Deputy Robert McArthur. That is one short of authorized strength.

Terrorists blow up workers' bus

All-out war in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Terrorists threw a hand grenade into a busload of Roman Catholic workers in a Belfast suburb today, killing one and injuring nine, as Northern Ireland's Catholic and Protestant guerrillas squared off for all-out war against each other.

Security chiefs believed the bus ambush was the work of Protestant extremists. They anticipated retaliation by the Catholics of the Irish Republican Army.

The bus was passing through a quiet Protestant suburb of Belfast, taking the workmen to the site of a new Catholic school. A man with a stick limped in front of the vehicle, and the driver slowed almost to a halt. Two men ran up, lobbed a fragmentation grenade through an open window and escaped.

Two of the wounded were reported in critical condition, and the injuries of three others were "extremely serious," police said.

The bombing raised to 697 the confirmed death toll in 3½ years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland.

The militant Protestants of the Ulster Defense Association announced Tuesday that because of Irish Republican Army 'provocations," they could no longer hold Protestant extremists in check and would not try.

The Catholics of the Irish Republican Army replied that they would take "ruthless retaliatory action" for the killing of Catholics. The UDA said this was "a virtual declaration of war."

Gunmen have killed five persons in Belfast since Monday. Four were

U.S. copters fly Red general to peace meet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopters flew to a jungle rendezvous today, picked up the Viet Cong general who directed the 1968 Tet offensive against Saigon and flew him back to join a peacekeeping commission.

Five years almost to the day since the start of the 1968 attack on Saigon, the U.S. helicopter crews brought Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra and 28 other Viet Cong men to Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Tra is the 55-year-old deputy military commander of the elusive COSVN, the Communists' Central Office for South Vietnam. As chief Viet Cong member of the four-party joint military commission, he likely holds the key to the release of American prisoners of war held in South Vietnam.

Seven U.S. helicopters marked with white stripes picked up Tra and his men at Loc Ninh, a rubber plantation town 75 miles north of Saigon which Tra's forces captured last year.

They were taken to Camp Davis, a former U.S. Signal Corps installation at Tan Son Nhut, where the other Communist cease-fire delegates are housed.

Because of Tra's absence, the peacekeeping group made up of the four belligerents has been unable to start arranging the exchange of prisoners or the security safeguards that must be set up before the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision can send out its teams of observers to police the cease-fire.

Tentative plans were made for the senior members of the joint military commission to hold their first meeting Friday.

Annexes to the peace agreement signed in Paris last Saturday say prisoners shall be returned and received at places agreed to by the four signatories — the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong. These four also must guarantee the safety of personnel engaged in the return and reception of the POWs.

Meanwhile, the total of ceasefire violations reported continued to fall off despite continued heavy fighting in the northern provinces and despite the inability of the truce observer teams to get into the field.

The Saigon command claimed there were 188 Communist attacks during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, compared with 209 in the previous 24 hours, 311 in the 24 hours before that and 426 in the first 22 hours after the ceasefire went into effect Sunday.

The U.S. Command announced that another American adviser was slightly wounded Wednesday in coastal Binh Dinh province. He was hit by a terrorist explosive, the Command said. He was the sixth American wounded since the cease-fire went into effect.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam of South Vietnam returned from Paris and Washington and said he believed the fighting will stop once the international truce teams are in place.

He said if there is a large North Vietnamese invasion, "the countries in the agreement are committed to act but it is up to them to decide what to do."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew to Phnom Penh and then to Bangkok after two days of talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other South Vietnamese officials on postwar U. S.-Vietnamese relations and aid to the Saigon government.

In a departure statement, Agnew said his discussions had been "candid and comprehensive" and that he had "assured President Thieu and his advisers of the strong and abiding interest of the United States in the security and well-being of South Vietnam."

Reds to release new POW listing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said it expects to receive from North Vietnam today the missing list of U.S. prisoners of war held in Laos.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said the list was to be turned over to U.S. diplomats in Paris by North Vietnamese officials and transmitted to Washington.

"We do expect it to include all Americans held in Laos, military and civilian, held by North Vietnam and Pathet Lao," he said.

U.S. prisoners held in Laos were not included in the two lists given U.S. officials in Paris Saturday identifying 555 Americans held captive in North and South Vietnam and 55 others who died in enemy camps. But once U.S. officials realized the POWs in Laos were missing from the list, the United States pressed North Vietnam for those names.

The Pentagon previously listed six Americans captive in Laos and 311 missing. Two of the six turned up on the list of those held in North Vietnam.

Although only a small number had been listed as captured, the Pentagon believes that other men carried as missing were taken alive by enemy forces in Laos. Most of the missing there are pilots shot down in air strikes against the jungle supply routes known as the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The Pentagon has charged that North Vietnam, in identifying 555 captives, failed to account for 56 other GIs known to have been prisoners of war in Southeast Asia. Officials are hoping the Laotian list will swell the number of POWs to be released by the Communists beginning next week.

Senate sets own probe of Watergate

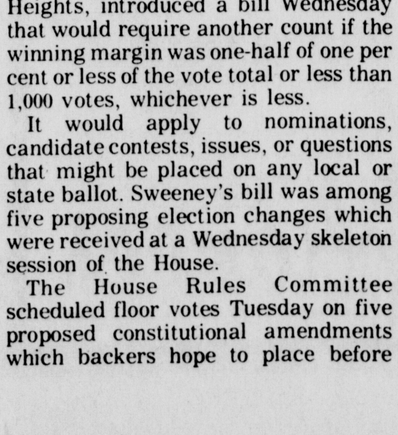
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chosen to head a Senate investigation of the Watergate bugging affair, wants to create a special five-member committee with broad subpoena powers to conduct the probe.

Asked if White House aides might be called to testify, Ervin said he intends to subpoena witnesses if he believes they have information "regardless of the positions they hold."

The North Carolina Democrat said Wednesday he is drafting, for consideration by the Democratic leadership and the Senate, a resolution to create the investigative panel.

Ervin said the start of hearings by the special committee is at least several weeks away.

A U.S. District Court on Tuesday found G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr. guilty of burglarizing and wiretapping Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex.



Strike hits reformatory

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ninety-five inmates of the Ohio Reformatory for Women failed to report for work today in a growing and confused strike over a variety of grievances.

"It is not completely clear why the inmates are on strike," a spokesman for the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said in Columbus.

"There had been some inmates failing to report for work off and on during the week, but it was more of a nuisance than anything else. Today 35 more inmates joined the strikers."

Supt. Martha Wheeler, the prison ombudsman, the department's ombudsman and Bernard Barton, director of institutional operations, have been trying to pin down complaints in meetings with the inmates' communications group.

Ohio Assembly eyes vote reforms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1973 legislature, seemingly bent on election reforms, has before it a proposal that would require automatic recounts of races that sometimes drag on for weeks and months at the expense of the candidates.

Rep. John Sweeney, D-14 Cleveland Heights, introduced a bill Wednesday that would require another count if the winning margin was one-half of one per cent or less of the vote total or less than 1,000 votes, whichever is less.

It would apply to nominations, candidate contests, issues, or questions that might be placed on any local or state ballot. Sweeney's bill was among five proposing election changes which were received at a Wednesday skeleton session of the House.

The House Rules Committee scheduled floor votes Tuesday on five proposed constitutional amendments which backers hope to place before voters in the May primary. They include the Vietnam veterans' bonus, and a proposal to provide property tax relief for farmers.

Other amendments slated for a vote in the House would permit tandem election of the governor and lieutenant governor, authorize state legislators to receive expenses now prohibited, and revise administrative and procedural rules of the General Assembly.

The farm property tax amendment loomed as the only one virtually sure of passage after bipartisan agreement on an amendment that would leave implementation largely up to the legislature. It has more than 50 sponsors of both parties, and it came out of the House Ways and Means Committee by a vote of 18-0.

Republicans are seeking to finance the $300 million veterans' bonus from the general revenue fund, rather than from an increase in property taxes, so that a floor fight may be expected on that issue. Democratic sponsors claim a .6-mill property levy to retire the bonds over a 15-year period is the best way.

Besides Sweeney's recount bill, the other election bills now before the House would:

—Make general election day a holiday.

—Permit absentee voting at boards of elections up to 4 p.m. the day before election.

—Extend voting hours from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

—Eliminate a requirement for a notary to witness the signing of petitions for candidates for state and county party central committee posts.

Numerous other voting law changes have been proposed in the Senate and House by members of both parties with hearings expected to get under way soon. Bedsheet ballots and primary election foul ups have been among voting problems Ohio has experienced in recent years.

No floor sessions of the House or Senate were held this week to allow members to attend a state government seminar in Columbus. A full week of deliberations may be expected next week, leaders said.

At the sparsely-attended seminar, which wound up a three-day program Wednesday, William Weisenberg of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections said a "home furlough" bill would be introduced in the legislature within the next few weeks. He said the measure would be aimed at aiding in rehabilitation of inmates.

Weisenberg described the plan as allowing prisoners in minimum security facilities to have weekend releases to visit their families. It would also permit some to have time off from jail to secure jobs.

Stennis shows improvement; pair sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis, shot twice in a holdup, remained in very serious condition today, but a hospital spokesman said the 71-year-old chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee showed slight improvement after spending a comfortable night.

The spokesman said at a 6 a.m. EST briefing that the prospects for Stennis' recovery were still "guarded." But he said the senator was awake and his vital signs were good. The next briefing was scheduled for 3 p.m.

Stennis' administrative assistant, William Cresswell, said Stennis was "very alert" when visited Wednesday night by his wife, Coy, and son, John Hampton Stennis. He said John visited briefly again today about 5:30 a.m.

Police and FBI agents, meanwhile, checked police files and visited several high schools in an effort to learn the identity of two teen-agers who are believed responsible for shooting Stennis outside his northwest Washington home Tuesday night.

Stennis underwent 6½ hours of surgery for the wounds—one in the thigh and one which entered the chest and passed through the stomach and the pancreas. He has been fed intravenously and received multiple blood transfusions.

The senator's attackers reportedly took his wallet containing credit cards, a gold pocket watch, his Phi Beta Kappa key and a 25-cent piece.

Police and FBI spokesmen refused to comment on their investigation.

The Washington Post, however, said authorities have focused their efforts on known gun-carrying offenders and youths arrested in the past in the Northwest Washington neighborhood where Stennis has lived for more than 20 years.

National leaders, including President Nixon, have expressed their shock and concern for Stennis, a 25-year Senate veteran and a key backer of a strong U.S. military.

Many senators denounced the attack on Stennis as an example of the crime problem in the nation's cities.

WHERE SEN. STENNIS WAS SHOT — Police investigators examine a car in front of the home of Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., in Washington, D.C., after the senator was shot. Police said Stennis got out of the car and was accosted by two men during an apparent holdup. He underwent surgery for the removal of two bullets. (AP Wirephoto)

More acreage freed for crop production

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to increase consumer food supplies and meet rising export commitments, the Nixon administration has opened the way for farmers to produce record corn and soybean crops this year.

The Agriculture Department Wednesday added more land to potential crop production this year by lowering the acreage that farmers must take out of production in order to qualify for government payments.

One result could be a record six-billion-bushel corn crop and soybean production of 1.5 billion bushels.

Prices of wheat, soybean and feed grain have climbed since last summer as a result of heavy exports and growing demands by domestic producers of livestock, poultry and dairy products.

"Our aim is to see that prices get no stronger than they are," said Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Under the new strategy, producers of corn, sorghum, and barley will have to idle 25 per cent of their acreage base in 1973 to qualify for full government benefits. When announced last Dec. 11, this set-aside requirement would have been 30 per cent.

In all, according to the department, feed-grain producers are expected to wind up with about 16.5 million acres taken from production this year, compared with 37 million diverted in 1972.

Until revised Wednesday, the 1973 plan called for more than 25 million acres to be set aside. The new version, therefore, is aimed at putting about nine million acres back to work.

More Navy racial trouble

DENNISPORT, Mass. (AP) — The Navy has confirmed a report of racial trouble aboard the carrier U.S.S. Intrepid but terms "a little harsh" the charge of an officer that "what is going on at present is plain mutiny."

Lt. Fred E. O'Brien, 42, of Dennisport made the charge in letters to Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts. They were sent to his wife, Jane, and fowarded Wednesday.

"The threats are being carried out at present by gangs of blacks roaming around with wrenches and pipes."

Nixon choices win approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed five of President Nixon's six new Cabinet choices and the sixth, Caspar W. Weinberger, is likely to get the nod next week.

Peter J. Brennan, New York labor leader, was approved by a 81-3 vote Wednesday to be Secretary of Labor.

James T. Lynn, Cleveland, Ohio, attorney, was confirmed by voice vote to head the Housing and Urban Development Department.

Lynn also has been designated by the President as one of three super-cabinet officials to coordinate policy in the field of community development.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected the Senate could vote on Weinberger as head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department before it begins the traditional Lincoln Day recess next Thursday.

Weinberger has agreed to testify Friday before the Labor and Public Welfare Committee regarding budget cuts in HEW programs.

His appearance apparently will satisfy members of that committee who have been asking that the nomination be held up.

Weinberger worked on the cuts as Nixon's budget director in the last administration.

Brennan is the first labor leader to run the Labor Department in 20 years.

Some civil rights groups opposed his nomination on the grounds that New York construction unions discriminate against blacks and Puerto Ricans.

But his Senate supporters said Brennan, who was head of the New York Building and Construction Trades Council, had no power to force hiring of minorities by individual unions.

Thug makes big mistake; tangles with lady wrestler

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Ann Marie Lynch quit professional wrestling seven years ago, but she came out of retirement to hand a burly burglar "a beating he'll never forget."

Mrs. Lynch, 36, and her husband, Patrick, surprised the thief in their living room after returning home late.

"The first time I can't beat a woman, I'll quit," Mrs. Lynch quoted the 6-foot-2 intruder as shouting when she grabbed for him after he knocked her husband to the floor.

"Boy, was he surprised!" recalled the 5-foot-6 Mrs. Lynch. "Patrick was hit in the stomach. He has a Pacemaker and that guy could have killed him. It made me good and mad.

"I pinned the guy and knocked him good. His head hit the coffee table when I pinned him and there was blood all over my white living room carpet. He finally got away, but the police ought to be able to spot him. His face was tore up real good."

Mrs. Lynch, who weighs about 155 pounds, said her confrontation with the burglar Tuesday night wasn't the first time she foiled a would-be criminal.

"I was in a bank in Chicago one time when some guy tried to hold it up," she said. "He had this gun but I saw it was only a water pistol and I jumped him and held him until the guards came.

"I ain't afraid of no man."

A certified public accountant like her husband, Mrs. Lynch said it has been a busy week.

On Monday night she pulled a man from a burning car.

"It's kind of funny," she said. "But, then, I like to be active."

Mrs. Lynch, who wrestled as Ann Marie Antonelli, said she doesn't remember the record she compiled in her 10 years as a wrestler in Chicago and New York, but "I won more than I lost.

"I wasn't ever famous or anything, but I was pretty tough. I still am."

U.S. airlines end plans for SST in near future

NEW YORK (AP) — Decisions of the nation's two largest international airlines not to exercise options to buy the controversial Concorde has probably ended the possibility of American carriers using supersonic planes in the next few years.

Pan American World Airways announced Wednesday it would not exercise its options to buy seven of the British-French planes because studies showed the aircraft "has significantly less range, less payload and higher operating costs" than present wide-bodied jets. Besides, the carrier added, the Concorde would require "substantially higher fares."

Trans World Airlines said it would recommend that its board of directors not exercise its options on six Concordes because "first priority must be given to the improvement and expansion of our present subsonic fleet." The airline also said it had "some serious question as to the economic viability of the Concorde on TWA's system."

Pan Am and TWA are regarded as industry leaders, particularly in overseas routes where the Concorde would be useful, and their decision to scrap the options is expected to affect the thinking of other airlines.

Four other U.S. carriers hold options on the $50-60 million plane, which is scheduled for delivery sometime in 1974. American and Eastern have options to buy six planes each; Braniff and Continental have options on three planes each.

Braniff is the only one of the four that has displayed much enthusiasm for the Concorde. It says the plane would be ideal for its Latin American flights, but Braniff doesn't want to be the first carrier to try out the new aircraft.

The major attraction of the plane is its speed — more than twice the speed of sound. It can whisk a maximum of 128 passengers from New York to Paris in about three hours.

Its major drawbacks are its price, four times higher than originally quoted; its passenger capacity, less than half that of many planes now in use; and the noise it generates.

Amtrak revenues increased in 1972, report discloses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., said today its revenues for the last six months of 1972 were up 12.6 per cent over revenues for the same period in 1971.

In an annual report to the President and the Congress, Amtrak President Roger Lewis said the revenue growth indicates "that the historical deline in railroad passenger ridership has been reversed."

Amtrak started operations on May 1, 1971.

Lewis said revenue increases for the last six months of 1972 were running slightly less than had been projected, while expenses were slightly higher.

For the calendar year 1972 Amtrak reported a net loss of $147.5 million. Revenues were $162.6 million and expenses $310.1 million.

Passenger use of Amtrak trains from May through September 1972, the period for which the most recent detailed figures were available, showed an increase of 10.4 per cent over the comparable period of 1971.

"At the end of 1972 the Corporation was operating better cars and cleaner cars and was giving the public better service than it was in December a year ago, although we still have a long way to go to achieve what we consider an excellent service," Lewis said.

He said "system-wide on-time performance averaging 75 per cent was not satisfactory to us."

The report outlined some of the difficulties Amtrak has been having in inducing certain participating railroads to keep tracks and roadbeds in good repair.

In one dispute still under contract arbitration, Amtrak contended that Penn Central Transportation Co. violated its basic agreement by failing properly to maintain its rail lines between Indianapolis and Kankakee, Ill.

Amtrak also charged that excessive speed restrictions on Penn Central's lines between Chicago and Louisville, Ky., caused serious delays in its Florida train.

Irish bloodshed

Catholics, and three of those were teen-agers. The fifth was a UDA member.

The Irish Republican Army accused the Ulster Defense Association of giving a green light to sectarian killings "on the scale hitherto unknown." It declared: "A new phase of sectarian killings will not be tolerated. The IRA will utilize all its resources to end sectarian killings for all time."

The UDA said the IRA men were murderers and hypocrites, and "we will not permit them to thrive."

"IRA War on the UDA," said a banner across the front page of the Irish Press in Dublin.

British army sources feared the troops would be caught in the middle.

The assassins continued working Wednesday night.

A cry of "Hey, you!" halted a 17-year-old Catholic boy walking home in Belfast. When he turned, a gunman shot him in the stomach. His condition today was critical.

A police officer was shot in the back as he parked his car at his home in Downpatrick, County Down. Stray bullets went through a window of the house and hit his 9-year-old daughter. Both were in serious condition.

Gabriel Savage, 17, was kissing his 16-year-old girl friend goodnight when his killer arrived.

The men dragged him from her arms and bundled him into a car as she screamed in terror. They drove away, shot him through the head and left his corpse in a ditch.

Savage was the third Roman Catholic teen-ager slain in Northern Ireland this week, presumably by Protestant terrorists.

Committee sets May BIE date

Preliminary plans for the annual BIE Day were mapped at a meeting of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce Educational Committee Wednesday in the Chamber conference room.

Bruce Galloway, committee chairman, said the annual BIE Day will be held May 2 and 3, but the committee is still uncertain on a site and on transportation for the students. There will be two morning sessions from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and an evening session May 3 starting at 7 p.m.

Galloway said the Educational committee is still working to lay the groundwork for the program as far as keynote speakers are concerned and will meet with superintendents of the Washington C. H. and Miami Trace School districts next week in hopes of completing the plans.

President admits American held by China CIA agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has publicly admitted that an American captured in China 20 years ago was a CIA agent, but administration officials say it was not an effort to trade for the man's early release.

Other government sources had acknowledged the espionage role of John Thomas Downey and Richard Fecteau when their plane was shot down, but Nixon was the first U.S. official to put it on the record during his Wednesday news conference.

The old official line had been that Downey and Fecteau were civilian employes of the Army whose plane was downed when it strayed off course on a flight from Korea to Japan.

In the period leading to Nixon's China trip last year Fecteau was released after serving 19 years of a 20-year sentence. Downey's original sentence was 30 years, but in December 1971 the remaining term was cut to five years.

The matter came up when a reporter asked Nixon about Americans held by the Chinese. He answered that "we have every reason to believe" that two military pilots shot down during the 1960s will be released "as the POW situation is worked out in Vietnam."

The pilots, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert Flynn and Air Force Maj. Philip Smith, were shot down in separate missions involving Vietnam reconnaissance missions.

"Downey," Nixon said, "is a different case, as you know. Downey involves a CIA agent."

White House and State Department sources say Nixon was only stating fact, not attempting to trade the admission for Downey's release.

In fact, the President told reporters, "we have no assurance that any change of action, other than the commutation of the sentence, will take place."

However, he emphasized such an act by Peking "would be a very salutary action," indicating Downey's early release would be helpful in improving U.S.-Chinese relations.

Nixon cautioned that the Downey case is best handled in a quiet, diplomatic way. "It is not," he said, "one where any public pressures or bellicose statements from here will be helpful in getting his release."

Stock list on upside

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market indulged in a brief rally today but its upward momentum lost some of its steam. Trading was active.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead .23 to 999.25. Gaining issues had a margin of about 7 to 5 over declining stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow had been ahead 6.10 points after the first hour of trading.

"The market was making up lost ground, in a technical rally correcting an oversold condition that developed over the past two weeks," said Larry Wachtel, research director at Bache & Co.

On the Big Board the most active issue was Babcock & Wilcox, up 5/8 to 34 5/8. Most of the action came on a block trade of 500,000 shares at 24 1/4.

On the American Stock exchange the price-change index was up .01 to 25.82.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was up .05 to 62.80.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A weak, nearly stationary warm front stretched east-west across northern Ohio early today and was forecast to move slowly northward. Also influencing Ohio's weather is a storm moving slowly north out of Oklahoma. A cold front extending southeast of the storm is expected to pass through Ohio late tonight.

Rain was forecast to spread over Ohio today, bringing with it thundershowers over most of the state by evening. Rain will continue into the night, but taper off to showers in the southwest by late tonight.

Highs today were forecast to reach the 50s this afternoon, then not dip much below the mid 40s over the state tonight.

The cold front passing through Ohio late tonight will cause temperatures to remain steady or fall slowly Friday.

Skies were generally cloudy overnight. Lows early today ranged from the mid 30s to low 40s.

Pentagon papers coverup claimed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A retired Air Force officer has told jurors in the Pentagon papers trial of secret orders to remove from government files reports which could help acquit Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo.

The government, trying to refute the testimony, continues cross-examination of Lt. Col. Edward A. Miller today before questioning the man alleged to have written a memo about the orders, Charles Hinkle, director of the Office of Security Review (OSR).

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, former researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspracy and theft in connection with the release to news media of the Pentagon papers, a top secret history of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Local students to participate in Junior Achievement Exposition

JAXPO 73, the Junior Achievement Exposition, will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Lausche Building on the Ohio State Fairground.

Among the 70 J.A. companies, operated by some 1,500 students respresenting 51 area high schools, will be the three Fayette County companies, whose members will be displaying and manufacturing in their booths.

Ramco II, sponsored by Armco Steel Products Div.; Banco, sponsored by the Washington Savings Bank, and ABS, co-sponsored by the Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Washington C.H. Jaycees, will also have their products for sale.

The booths will be occupied through the two days by all members of the companies, working in shifts. Hours on both Saturday and Sunday are from 12 noon until 8:30 p.m.

An added attraction will be "Professions on Parade", featuring many professional organizations, to give students, both J.A. and non-J.A. members, a chance to get information on career opportunities in various fields.

Throughout the weekend, entertainment will be provided for the JAXPO audience, including a Pro-Am Talent Show, a Miss J.A. contest, a rock band, a church choir and a host of high school performers.

One of the top features of the program will be the appearance of Donna Jean Young, of NBC's Laugh-In. She will be on hand at noon Saturday for ribbon-cutting ceremonies. She also will serve as a judge for the Miss J.A. contest Saturday evening and will be available for interviews.

Chairman of JAXPO 73 is Robert Murchake, partner of Ernst and Ernst, Columbus, and Robert J. Kolacki is program coordinator. Admission to the exposition is $1 for adults. Students of high school age and under are admitted free.

Propane needs nearly complete

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With 99 per cent of Ohio's corn crop and 92 per cent of the soybeans harvested, there no longer is a large demand for propane gas to dry the grain, the Public Utility Commission says.

John Gordon, commission director of transportation, said the commission still has about 450,000 gallons of propane to allocate to distributors who might need it.

There was a crucial shortage of propane gas in January when farmers needed it to dry water-logged crops at a time when the fuel was needed to heat homes and businesses.

Harvesting had to await a hard freeze because of muddy fields resulting from extended wet weather late last year.

Slaying draws term of life, 20 years

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Sams, 19, today began a life term plus 20 years for the fatal shooting of a Cincinnati police detective during an aborted holdup in December, 1971.

Sams was convicted Wednesday of first-degree murder and unlawful entry of a bank, by a Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury.

Detective Howard Smith was shot trying to stop a holdup of a Fifth-Third bank branch. Two others were arrested.

There are so many lakes in Canada that they have never been counted.

Opinion And Comment

The follow-through is weak

A twelfth of the way into the new year, the fallout of broken resolutions already is substantial. Another month or so will see a large percentage of the year's end good intentions fallen by the wayside.

This judgment, based on past experience, derives new support from a clinical study made by two psychologists at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. The psychologists, Profs. G. Alan Marlatt and Burt Kaplan, sought to learn more about how the exercise of will power or self-control may change personal behavior. Their findings, based on study of 128 student volunteers, point to the conclusion that resolutions are not generally a very useful means of changing our ways.

This is true in particular, it seems, of resolutions to stop an old activity — a "bad habit" of some sort. On the average, such resolutions were kept only 32 days, while resolutions to start some new activity lasted 51 days.

It also turned out that young women make more resolutions than young men, and keep them longer: the girls, on the average, made 3.2 resolutions and adhered to them for 44 days; the men made 2.6 resolutions and kept them for 41 days.

The jackpot question is: Why were resolutions broken? For answer the psychologists had to depend on the volunteers' own judgments. It is noteworthy that 30 per cent said they broke resolutions deliberately. Ten per cent blamed mere forgetfulness; more than one-third blamed circumstances beyond their control.

Only 24 per cent admitted lacking the necessary will power to carry on. Various conclusions are possible, but one stands out: Most of us, for all our good intentions, tend to make excuses for ourselves when we fail to follow through.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Texas power in Nixon regime

WASHINGTON — You could never mistake Lyndon Baines Johnson's origins. He was a Texan through and through, schooled in the politics of that state where political life is a form of guerrilla warfare.

That was one reason for his masterful command of the Senate when he was majority leader in the years leading up to his nomination as Vice President on the ticket with John F. Kennedy. His presence on that ticket contributed much to the narrow victory over the Republican candidate, Richard Nixon. Certainly, it was why Texas went Democratic in 1960.

In his triumph is his own state and in the nation, there was the curious dichotomy of Texas politics. He was a split personality between the populism of the past, the welfare programs of the Great Society, and big oil and big money. Johnson wanted to be first in both departments and until the Vietnam war overwhelmed him, he had largely succeeded.

The heritage of this duality, having your political cake and spreading it with the butter of the big-oil boys, has made Texas increasingly a Republican fief. If the name of the game is money, then play it where the money is. A breakdown would show that contributions to the $47 million Nixon campaign kitty rolled in from Texas in bigger amounts than from any other state. With Mexico close at hand, the more cautious among the big-oil donors laundered their contributions by passing them through Mexican bank accounts.

THE HEIR to this sharing of the wealth is Johnson's protege, John Connally, the former governor who climbed the golden ladder by administering the estate of one of the great oil fortunes. In the Nixon Administration as secretary of the treasury he won not only the admiration of the President, but personal attachment.

The Connally virtue for Nixon is that his friend, who was chairman in the campaign of Democrats for Nixon, always knows exactly what he wants. For someone like the President, who has had a succession of public and private crises, this steely reassurance counts for more than any other quality.

It is why sometime around midyear he will in all probability be brought back into the Administration. He can star again, when troubles pile up with Congress over the budget, as the great head knocker. That was his starring part when he put over in August, 1971, the currency revaluation and the import surcharge. Heads foreign and domestic were knocked together.

With the Republican upsurge in Texas, President Nixon is bringing another powerful, moneyed Texas into his Administration. He has nominated William P. Clements Jr. to be Deputy Secretary of Defense, a position in the vast corridors of the Pentagon second only to that of the secretary and in some ways with the special duties assigned to the deputy almost as important. He is chairman of the board of SEDCO, Inc., an oil drilling company that he built to a place on the New York Stock Exchange, making him many times a millionaire.

CLEMENTS, who badly blotted his copy book at his confirmation hearing by declining to rule out the possibility of nuclear weapons in Vietnam, is a friend and associate of Texas' Republican Sen. John Tower. Tower was re-elected in November with 53.8 per cent of the vote as against 67 per cent for Nixon. While supporting the Republican presidential ticket, Connally voted for statewide Democrats.

A hardliner, Clements served on the Blue - Ribbon Panel, a citizens group that recommended greatly increased defense appropriations. So far as is known, the deputy was nominated without consultation with incoming Secretary of Defense Elliott L. Richardson, who is giving up HEW to take on the hydra-headed monster in the Pentagon. He is a cultivated public servant out of a Boston Brahmin background. At Clements' hearing Tower, introducing him, contributed this:

"He may not know all the four-bit words that Mr. Richardson knows, but he can be a very articulate and powerful persuader."

Tower's Democratic oppoent was Barefoot Sanders, a contemporary version of the populism of the past. Potentially he is the Lyndon Johnson of, say, 20 years ago. Whether anything remains of that past or whether it has been wholly obscured by a massive coating of the green stuff only a bold prophet would say.

It is a troubling question as the tributes to Lyndon the Great go on and on.

Telephone trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you get tired of hearing when you try to use any telephone in America:

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Whom shall I say is calling, please?"

"He's not in the office, sir."

"He's in conference."

"He's on vacation."

"I'm sor-r-r-ree, that line is busy."

"Will you hold?"

"Did you ever get your party? No? Let me try again."

"It's me — your wife. What other woman would you be expecting to call you at 9:30 in the morning?"

"I don't know of anyone working here under that name. Does he have an alias?"

"He was here just 10 minutes ago, but — ."

"This is the third time I've left your message on his desk."

"What did you say your name was? Did you say Jawbone Slevsky? How do you spell it, please?"

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree. The line is busy."

"Here are three other numbers where you might be able to reach him. By the way, if you get him, tell him the boss is looking for him, too."

"Yes, he's in, but he told me not to disturb him unless it was God or one of His archangels calling."

"Well, sir, I assure you I am doing my best. But I'm a telephone operator — not an octopus."

"... This is a recording ... This is a recording ... This is a recording."

"He just stepped away from his desk for a moment, sir."

"The number you are dialing is no longer active. If you need further information, please dial Information."

"Yes, sir, he's in now, but he's speaking on both his other phones at the moment."

"Would you care to speak to anyone else in his absence?"

"I'm sor-r-r-r-ree, the line is busy, and I can't break in unless it is a life or death emergency."

Reagan may run for Senate post

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan says he won't seek a third term, even if party leaders attempt to draft him. But Reagan has left open the possibility of seeking the U.S. Senate seat of Democrat Alan Cranston in 1974.

Reagan, who will be 62 next week, announced Tuesday he will not seek a third term, and he said he has no timetable for announcing whether he will go up against Cranston, who plans to seek re-election.

"THERE YOU GO, PAT, LEADING AGAIN."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Atheist turns cold shoulder on gesundheit

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? A girl in our office sneezed, so I said, "God bless you." Instead of thanking me, she said, "You don't have to bother with that. I'm an atheist!"

NON PLUSSED

DEAR NON: I wouldn't have done anything. But the good care of herself because if she ever gets pneumonia she won't have a prayer.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I am actually writing a "Dear Abby" letter. My husband just left for "Bosses Night" and I'm sitting here with red eyes.

"Bosses Night" is a once-ayear affair, which features dinner, live music, and no spouses! My husband thinks it's nice. I think it stinks!

I told my husband that if my work had a similar function, he would strongly object to my going, and to make him happy I would stay home.

He said I was all upset for nothing. Am I? How would you handle this next year?

FEELING BLUE & SEEING RED

DEAR SEEING: I would get together with a few of the other "bosses' wives' and treat myself to the best entertainment in town.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this girl for a year or so. Things were pretty tight between us. We were supposed to go ice skating last week, but something came up and I absolutely could not make it. I didn't want my girl to sit home, so I asked my best friend to take her.

Well, he took her all right. It turned out he took her skating on Wednesday, to dinner on Thursday, to play tennis on Friday, and to a drive-in movie on Sunday. He would have taken her out Saturday night, too, but he had to work.

I didn't expect this to happen because we were such good friends I thought I could trust him. What should I do?

DON

DEAR DON: Start looking for another girl. But don't blame your friend. If your girl was really "your" girl, she wouldn't have been so easily lured away.

DEAR ABBY: Your computer date girl who was taken for $295 by a phony dating bureau is all wrong. Even though her contract contained phrases like "cannot guarantee" and "whenever possible," they did guarantee some effort on their part, and they are indeed liable for this effort.

By analogy, a medical doctor may state honestly that he cannot guarantee the success of a given treatment or operation. Now,if said doctor performs honestly and fails, that's one thing. But if he merely fails to perform, or performs negligently, that's something else again.

The state bureau agreed to do certain things, and if they did not fulfill their promised obligations, they are nothing but "sweet sue-able"- and the sooner we sue this kind of "sue-age" the better.

Find women still losers in job field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women are as segregated by occupation today as they were 30 years ago, President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers reports.

The council found that with few exceptions, women are still stuck in low-paying jobs and encounter discrimination when they seek more lucrative careers. Its first report on the economic status of women was released Tuesday.

More fact-finding and discussion of the government's role in helping women improve their situation is needed, the council said.

The council cited examples of job prejudice against women: "some clients reject women lawyers, some customers reject automobile saleswomen, and some workers reject women bosses."

It said employers often exaggerate the risk of a woman's job instability or her potential unacceptability to his clientele, and they screen her out of advanced training and advanced positions.

"The low representation of women in positions of responsibility is striking," the report said.

The CEA said many income and job differences stem from assumptions by both men and women that a woman's place is in the home and her job comes second.

The council said women remain as segregated from men by occupation as they were 30 years ago.

FDA ponders approval of pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says it will decide within a few weeks whether to approve "morning-after" birth control pills, already in use on college campuses.

The agency said it will keep secret the recommendations of an advisory committee.

The most commonly prescribed "morning-after," or postcoital, birth control drug is diethylstilbestrol (DES), recently linked to rare vaginal and uterine cancer in scores of young women whose mothers took it during pregnancy to prevent miscarriages.

In the New Hebrides, islanders traditionally scold children by saying, "Be good, or the white man will get you!"

The area drained by the Amazon River is so extensive it would cover three-fourths of the United States.

Conferees eye sewage problems

Four Fayette County officials were briefed on new developments in the sanitary engineering field during the three-day Ohio Home Sewage Disposal Conference which ended Wednesday at Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on the Ohio State University campus, Columbus.

Aomong the conferees, who came from Ohio and other states, were County Engineer Charles P. Wagner; Paul Junk, a graduate engineer associated with Wagner's office; Richard Keiser, another county engineering assistant, and County Sanitarian Charles Funk.

Among the subjects covered were the need for better construction of suburban and rural sewage facilities in view of the fact that septic tanks and leaching beds are creating problems because the ground will no longer provide the proper filtration in many areas; the organization of county health districts and the health aspects of the proliferating housing developments outside cities across the country.

Most of those attending the session were county engineers, their aides and sanitarians.

MISS JACQUELINE A. RABB

Feb. 14 wedding date

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Jacqueline Ann Rabb, daughter of Mrs. Ruth W. Rabb, of Santa Monica, Calif. and the late Theodore M. Rabb, to Martin Joseph Rohde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Rohde, 643 Willabar Dr., is being announced here.

Miss Rabb is a graduate of Santa Monica High School and attended Santa Monica College.

Mr. Rohde, a graduate of Washington Senior High School, Bliss Business College and Columbus Technical Institute, and his bride-elect are both employed at J.C. Penney's, Eastland Shopping Center, Columbus.

The wedding will be an event of Feb. 14, in Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal Church, Refugee Rd., Columbus.

Cleveland schools continue to operate

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland school officials say they will continue to try to operate the schools despite a custodians' strike that has left most buildings without heat.

Some 2,500 custodians, boiler operators and other nonteaching workers struck Wednesday in a pay dispute.

Strip park planned

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The city planning commission has received a budget of $50,000 to proceed with land acquisition and plans for development of a 5½-mile strip park along the Little Miami River.

Sweetheart Dance planned by Zeta Upsilon

Mrs. Roger Pemberton welcomed members of Zeta Upsilon chapter to her home when a pledge ritual for Mrs. Frank Giacomini preceded the meeting. Mrs. Raymond Siegel Jr., was welcomed as a new member.

A skating party is planned soon by the ways and means committee, the date to be announced later.

The annual Sweetheart Dance, planned for Feb. 10 from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the Legion Hall, will feature The Stoneys with music for dancing.

Valentine gifts were boxed for Rena, of Girlstown, the service project of the chapter, and a Valentine signed for her.

The members will attempt to get tickets for a Bengal football game again this year. Sometime in March, plans for the 25th anniversary of the group will be made.

Mrs. Robert Clary and Mrs. Fred Pitzer served refreshments to Mrs. Rick Kelley, Mrs. Pat O'Conner, Mrs. Charles Bowersox, Mrs. Jim Dunn, Mrs. Edward Eyre, Mrs. Ernest Gettlefinger, Mrs. Joe Morris, Mrs. Jeff Pollard, Mrs. Myron Priest, Mrs. Charles Hamilton Jr., Mrs. Steven Lewis, Mrs. George McCord, Mrs. David Elliott, Mrs. James Coldiron Jr., Mrs. Giacomini, Mrs. Siegel and Mrs. Pemberton.

Mrs. Kelley will be hostess to the members at 8 p.m. Feb. 6.

SEWING FASHION FABRICS

Let the winter winds blow — it's spring in the fabric stores! Among this year's spring fabrics, you'll find more woven synthetics, such as Quiana and texturized polyester.

These woven synthetics present one big sewing problem — puckering. To avoid puckering in seams, hems, zippers, and facings, follow these tips:

Use a fine needle, size 9 to 11. The needle must be sharp; a burred needle pulls threds, producing a puckery look. Sharp scissors are a must, too.

Use a synthetic thread — either cotton-covered polyester core or spun-yarn type.

Adjust the sewing machine until both upper and lower tensions are loosely balanced.

Keep the pressure on the pressor foot as light as possible, but heavy enough to let the fabric feed evenly through the machine. Too much pressure keeps the top layer of fabric from feeding through as fast as the bottom layer and seam puckering results. Try using hand tension to help the fabric feed through evenly. Don't pull the fabric; just apply firm hand tension behind and in front of the needle.

Use a throat plate with a small round opening rather than the throat plate with the wide oval opening used for zigzagging. If you have no other plate, tape paper over the throat plate so the needle creates a smaller hole.

Sew at a moderate even pace with few stops and starts.

Other hints: Puckering is more acute with straight seams, so select a pattern with bias or cross-wise grain seams. Preshrink all findings, including zippers. Most woven synthetics ravel, so a seam finish may be needed.

UPDATE FOR HOME ECONOMISTS

Along with these ideas for fashion sewing, Norma Deyo, O.S.U. extension clothing specialist, shared the new labeling care guidelines with us at an update session for home economists Monday evening at Circleville. Those traveling to the meeting from Fayette County included Mrs. Linda Edwards, Miss Helga Doppleb, Miss Barbara Vance, Mrs. Mary Myers, Mrs. Nancy Davis, Mrs. Kay Wallace, Mrs. Mildred Wheat, Mrs. Annalee Belt and myself.

PERMANENT CARE LABELING

As of July 3, 1972, a new permanent care labeling rule by the Federal Trade Commission was put into effect. This ruling states that all articles of clothing manufactured after July 3 must contain permanent labels explaining laundering or dry cleaning instructions, including what not to do when caring for the garment. Exceptions include "articles intended to be sold at retail for $3 or less which are completely washable under all normal circumstances" and articles whose "utility or appearance would be substantially impaired" by attaching a label. The law applies also to home sewing fabrics, which must be labeled on the bolt and on separate labels to be given to each consumer when the purchase is made.

YOUR CONSUMER RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

—When you shop: Use care labels to predict performance and cost of upkeep in choosing which items to buy.

Expect salespersons at fabric counters to provide care labels suitable for application to each finished garment.

—When you sew: Attach care labels to garments.

—When washing, ironing and dry cleaning: Follow care label instructions.

Observe solvent warnings when using coin-operated cleaning equipment.

Observe warning to professional dry clean only.

Help dry cleaners by informing them of all possible stains. Expect them to follow care labels.

—Speak Up: Share with Federal Trade Commission ideas to improve care labeling.

Complain to store managers if rule appears to be violated. Obtain name of manufacturer and complain in writing.

Complain to manufacturers if care instructions are confusing or appear to result in damage to garments.

Two honored at luncheon

Mrs. Brenton C. Zimmerman, Rt. 2, London, and Mrs. Jean Warner, Prairie Rd., entertained at a noon luncheon Tuesday at the Terrace Lounge, honoring Dr. Bernice O'Briant and Miss Mable Briggs, both of this city, the occasion being their birthdays.

Table decorations consisted of lighted pink candles in crystal holders, and at each place was a pink carnation nosegay, tied with a cerise red ribbon bow.

Seated with the guests of honor were Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, Mrs. Nathan Ervin, Mrs. Laban Pierce, of Jeffersonville, Mrs. Jess Whitmer, Mrs. Martha Braun, Mrs. Olive Brookover, Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Miss Maude Draper, and the hostesses.

Girl Scout cookie ordering begins

This Saturday Girl Scouts throughout the 16 counties of the Seal of Ohio GS Council will begin taking orders for cookies and will continue through Feb. 11. Deliveries will be made March 5-17. Again this year, five delicious flavors will be offered in the large $1-size boxes-Savannahs, Scot-Teas, Mints, Cocoa Fudge, Chocolate and Vanilla Cremes.

What's in a Girl Scout cookie? Democracy, self-reliance, and good citizenship. Girl Scout cookies are not only good to eat, they make it possible for the girls in this community to practice the art of democracy, to develop their self-reliance, and to be good citizens. Help keep Girl Scouting happening in Washington C.H., and do a good turn. Buy Girl Scout cookies . . .a lot of good comes in small packages.

Mrs. Charles Cunningham, of Boomingburg, is Fayette County cookie chairman.

Profits earned through the sale of the cookies will be used by the GS Council to improve and purchase new equipment for campsites and help provide funds for camperships. A campership is financial aid to a Girl Scout, who otherwise would not be able to attend one of the many camps throughout the state. Also, individual troop earnings will be used for various activities offered through field trips which provide an education in the out-of-doors and winter camp-ins.

The Center of Science and Industry in Columbus offers a winter camp-in each year in which local scouts participate. Many service projects are made available to Girl Scouts through the cookie sale. Inter-troop activities and projects not otherwise covered with financial funds will be undertaken.

Only Junior, Cadettes and Senior Scouts will be selling the cookies, baked by the Burry Division of the Quaker Oats Company.

Troops in Fayette County who will cover the communities are Junior Troop 267, Mrs. Morrison Gilbert, of Bloomingburg, leader; Troop 1214, Mrs. Charles Webb, Jeffersonville; Troop 329, Mrs. Howard Hixon, Milledgeville; and Troop 612, Mrs. Warren Lemke, Washington C.H.; Cadette Troop 669, Mrs. Donald Moore, of Bloomingburg; and Senior Troop 747, Mrs. Dwight Foy, Washington C.H.

U. S. Army runs 'Charm School'

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

FT. LEE, Va. (AP) — Here the Army trains soldiers—to make tasty penguins out of hard-boiled eggs, carve swans out of ice, groom dogs and empty ash trays.

Other lessons range from bartending to flower arranging.

The purpose is to prepare enlisted men, all volunteers for the program, for the job of making Army generals and their families more comfortable. Or, as an Army spokesman explains it, "to put the commanding officer and his family in the forefront of the Army installation and the community."

Some program critics call the personal aides servants. Most generals get one aide for each star on their shoulders.

During a visit to Ft. Lee, an officer was asked directions to the training school. "An enlisted aides course?" he said. "Oh, you mean the charm school. Over there."

He pointed to a two-story, World War II-era building that has been remodeled to include five apartments. Each resembles a general's quarters and includes a living room, dining room, two bedrooms and a bathroom. Red and white carnations are carefully arranged on many tables.

The Army's enlisted aides course has been located in the building since the program started in January 1969. Courses are given six times a year, and the Army reports a total of 404 graduates. The waiting list of generals requesting aides is now at about 80. Some generals don't ask for aides, according to the spokesman.

He said soldiers spend 70 hours learning the duties and responsibilities of an enlisted aide, 109 hours on management of dining facilities and 137 hours on "the advanced principles of cooking, baking and garnishing."

Duties listed in the course outline include pet care, cleaning a general's quarters, care of officer's uniform and equipment, preparation of center pieces and ice carvings and watering plants.

Helping a general's wife includes reminding her of appointments, providing her with transportation and assisting her role as hostess, according to the outline.

Introducing two new 18 Hour® Bra styles.

New Front Closing Long Line

Here's the first Playtex® Long Line that hooks in front to save you the nuisance of reaching 'round your back. It also gives you full-figured girls the famous Playtex 18 Hour comfort, support, and smooth midriff control. That's because its exclusive 18 Hour fabric stretches in every direction, so it won't dig in or ride up. And non-stretch tricot straps give you added support.

New Bandeau

This new bandeau is a beauty! Feminine sheer lace plus that marvelous 18 Hour fabric that supports the full figure in comfort, hour after hour. And the non-stretch tricot straps and three-piece cups give added support, too.

Buy one, get a second one free.
(Or get your money back if you don't love the first.)

Special Introductory Offer: Buy one at your favorite store. Try it for 90 days. If you are satisfied, Playtex will send you another one absolutely FREE. If not completely satisfied, Playtex will return your money.

Either way, you come out ahead.

Here's all you do:

1. Buy any new 18 Hour Bra (style #21 or #201) before March 15, 1973. Get a dated sales slip and an application coupon from your store. Note that the coupon is divided into 2 parts. PART A and PART B.
2. Fill in the Part B of the coupon, detach and mail immediately to: 18 Hour Bra Offer, International Playtex Corp., Dept. 179, P.O. Box 1300, Wilmington, Delaware 19899.
3. If, after wearing your bra for 90 days, you wish to receive another one FREE, fill in the Part A of the coupon and mail it with the label from the bra and the dated sales slip to the above address. Playtex will mail you another bra of the same style.
4. If after wearing your bra for 90 days, you do not find it completely satisfactory, fill in the Part A of the coupon, and mail it along with the bra and the dated sales slip to the above address and Playtex will mail your purchase price, exclusive of taxes.

This offer limited to one FREE BRA or one MONEY BACK return per customer. Offer expires July 15, 1973. Addresses within the United States only. Void where taxed or prohibited by law.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, FEB. 2

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

There may be undesirable antagonism to combat: You are adept at this. Do not hesitate to call a conference, meet with other heads to better relationships.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Consult with others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually pass them with flying colors.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Especially favored now: Regular work and business matters, creative pursuits, scholastic interests, government projects. Some changes evolving; will please later.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may encounter some interference, but it should be a generally good day for accomplishment. Are your goals still the best? Your methods practical? Think it over now.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Give your imagination more rein, but keep track of its wanderings. You have all the tools needed for success, so go forward — confidently hopeful of all outcomes.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Leo, aspects suggest control of the imagaination. This includes worry over ills, how others accept your efforts, etc. Stress optimism.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

By-pass the irrelevant and immaterial. This is a day for making top-rank gains if you begin early and follow through, displaying your capabilities effectively.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Past efforts should be bearing fruit now. Study tendencies and changes that may seem odd, but may hold new advantages.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Use the techniques which have proved potent in the past, but also be ready to consider new angles, methods, etc. Romance favored.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mild influences. How this day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your brains and wits to bring out the effective and eliminate the useless.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

As with Capricorn, this day's success is in YOUR hands. Don't wait for leads; seek hidden advantages. They're yours for the taking.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

You should be able to handle and interpret matters, problems, ably now. If you need more information before acting, consult an expert in the field.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, unusual versatility and a bouncing, volatile personality. You are a gay and witty conversationalist; are at ease as a listener and are extremely democratic in choosing friends and associates. Your talents run to the creative and, properly educated, you could shine as a journalist, writer of short stories, musician or entertainer. Science and the graphic arts may also appeal to you. You are enthusiastic about anything you undertake and, if called upon to lead, can always come up with the know-how and, often, an extraordinary gimmick or surprise tactic.

PUCO eyes small phone companies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Public Utilities Commission Chairman Henry Eckhart says a check needs to be made on service provided by Ohio's independent telephone companies.

Eckhart said PUCO research showed Ohio's four largest independent telephone companies are averaging about nine times the number of complaints as the two Bell companies operating in the state.

In 1971, Ohio Bell and Cincinnati Bell averaged 1.53 complaints per 10,000 main stations, Eckhart said.

In comparison, the four independent companies—United, General, Mid Continent and Northern Ohio—had an average of 16.5 complaints per 10,000 main stations.

Eckhart attributed part of the increase in complaints to a new regulation requiring all telephone companies to list the PUCO's phone number, and increased PUCO activity.

"The independent companies and the Commission must take a new hard look at service being provided to this portion of Ohio's telephone subscribers," he said.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. shows earnings drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's second largest steel maker, Bethlehem Steel Corp., announced today its profits for the year 1972 dropped 3.3 per cent to $134.58 million.

The announcement came a day after top-ranked U.S. Steel reported only a slight boost in its 1972 profits.

Small town survives advent of interstate highway

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — No need to pity this small riverfront community. The concrete snake we call an interstate highway did no great harm.

In fact, it's been a boon.

Like hundreds of other little towns, Carrollton was fearful when the traffic flow from its main street, a major intercity highway, was siphoned off by the new interstate four miles away.

'I'd say at least half of the tow was afraid, especially the fellows who depended on tourists—like me," Tommy Combs, owner of a small motel, said.

Carrollton, population 4,200, is situated on U.S. 42, halfway between Louisville and Cincinnati. It has both the Ohio and Kentucky rivers on its borders, but isn't a port of call for either of them.

For years, the steady parade of cars and trucks poured through the town, a percentage of them stopping for rest, food or lodging and making Carrollton just a little bit richer.

Then, in the summer of 1969, I-71 was opened to traffic.

"So many people here made the remark that they'd seen other towns where the interstates killed 'em," Randall Kelly, a liquor store clerk, recalled.

But, for Carrollton, it wasn't that way at all. If anything, the community has prospered since that summer day in 1969 and the concrete snake called I-71 has helped it.

"When the interstate road first opened, we had a reduction in traffic flow, of course," H. C. Fryman, assistant cashier at a local bank, said.

"But this was mainly heavy trucks and that sort of thing and those people weren't stopping here much anyway. For them, our being centrally located didn't mean much. They just wanted to get to Louisville or Cincinnati as fast as they could," he added.

William G. "Butch" Livesay, who operates a restaurant and bar, figures the profit and loss regarding the interstate just about balanced out as far as Carrollton was concerned.

And having a state park next door was the key, he said.

"Sure there was a lot of traffic here on 42, but the volume is probably double or triple that on I-71 and if you've got that many people on the interstate, there are bound to be more that stop off," he said.

"And, in the summer, we have a lot of tourist trade and Gen. Butler State Park brings a lot of that," his wife, Lynne, said.

Then, too, Carrollton now is the world's second largest Burley tobacco market "and I think that helps bring people into the town," waitress Emma Sherman said.

During the 15 years that I-71 was on the drawing board, industry came to Carrollton. Dow Corning has a plant just outside town; a division of American Can Co. is situated closer to the city limits and Kentucky Utilities Co. has an expanding power plant eight miles north, at Ghent, Ky.

"We never would have bought up this plant site except for the interstate," Arthur Mandell, plant manager for American Can's M&T chemical plant, said, adding that he employs 310 persons.

Of course, everyone couldn't profit from the new road. "It always happens to a small town. When you get good roads leading out of it, your customers leave home to shop," grocer Harold Carlisle said.

"But, really, I can't see much difference in my business," he added. Neither can Combs, the hotel owner.

"I believe there are as many traveling people spending money in Carrollton as there were when they traveled old 42," Combs said.

LAST OF THE FAMILY — This rickety wooden bridge which carries Miami Trace Road over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the former flagstop of Glendon, bleakly awaits the wreckers. March 6 has been set as the date for opening bids on a new concrete beam span which County Engineer Charles P. Wagner estimates will cost in the neighborhood of $115,000. The county and state will cooperate in financing the new two-lane bridge. Wagner believes that the present one-laner, which shivers and creaks under automobile traffic, was built around 1880 when both the B&O and Pennsylvania lines ran many passenger trains and freight drags beneath it on parallel tracks. The Pennsy has abandoned its rails, using B&O trackage under a lease arrangement for its half dozen weekly runs south of Washington C.H. The antique bridge, the last all-wood structure of its kind in the county, is located about 500 feet northwest of the CCC Highway. The photos above, taken by R-H photographer Ed Summers, indicate not only the tottery age of the span but also the lack of visibility at the approaches.

Thorns seen in rosy economic picture

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You can detect in President Nixon's economic report to Congress the satisfaction of a man who feels he has wrestled some very big economic problems and now has them nearly tamed and responsive to his will.

While the general prediction is that it will be another "very good" year, he said, "I believe it can be a great year." And in the spirit of things he has set some goals that critics might think quite optimistic.

But it is clear too that he is extremely wary that these very same problems, inflation especially, might challenge his leadership. It can be a great year, he said, only if we are prudent. By implication: more restraint, less self-indulgence.

These are some of the pocketbook goals the President has set:

—A continued reduction in the inflation rate to around 3 per cent, averaged out for the year, and a rate of even less than that during the final months of 1973.

This is a critical goal and one to watch all year long. Many private economists feel the rate will be 3.5 per cent or above. Moreover, they fear it might be rising rather than falling as the year progresses.

It also is a goal that can be reached only by a bumpy road. Food is expected to make headlines in the next few weeks as record-high farm prices arrive at the checkout counter. It won't seem like inflation is receding.

The administration concedes it has set its sights high, and it appears to be relying both on the self-discipline of producers and consumers in exercising restraint, and the discipline of the big stick it hasn't used so far.

—Less optimism is shown in regard to employment. It is even suggested that the level of idleness that must be tolerated has been raised from 4 per cent of the work force to 4.5 per cent, at least for 1973.

The job goal is for a jobless rate of about 4.5 per cent by late in the year, compared with 5.6 per cent last year and 5.9 per cent in 1971. The rate last year fell through the months to a 5.1 per cent level in December.

While an earlier figure of 4 per cent had been set as the goal, without a specific date for achieving it, the administration is seemingly wary that to seek that level too quickly might force prices higher.

Economically, full employment is not full employment. It is the rate of joblessness that can be supported without producing shortages of skill that, in turn, push up labor costs and then prices.

Millions of Americans will generally be out of work at any one time: unable to work, between jobs, laid off and looking, unskilled and otherwise idle.

—Incomes are projected to rise sharply in 1973. This doesn't mean that bigger pay raises are forthcoming, but it does mean that people will have more money to spend because inflation will be reduced.

In addition, billions of dollars in tax refunds already are beginning to filter back to those who had too much money withheld during 1972. Billions of dollars is on its way back to consumers.

—Good prospects are foreseen also for homebuyers, as more than 2 million units become available for the third straight year. Add to that figure a rough total of one-half million mobile homes and you have a boom.

If that level is achieved it will tend to keep prices from rising sharply as in the previous two years, when there was a larger backlog of unsatisfied demand. But continued increases in lumber prices and slightly higher mortgage rates might offset those gains.

Hold discussions on troop cuts

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — NATO allies and their Communist counterparts planned further informal discussions today in their attempt to set up negotiations on mutual troop reductions in Central Europe.

The preliminary talks between the United States, the Soviet Union and 17 other European nations began Wednesday and are expected to continue for some weeks. Western diplomats hope all the preliminary will be ironed out in time to get down to substantive negotiations in the fall.

"We are only at the beginning," said Jonathan Dean, head of the U.S. delegation, as he entered the first meeting in the Hofburg, once the palace of the Austrian emperor.

Face death charges

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Sam Keener, 18, and Scott Stupelli, both of Steubenville, pleaded innocent in municipal court Wednesday to first-degree murder charges in the weekend beating death of Chester Rogers, 77.

Two minor crashes reported

Only two minor traffic mishaps were reported in the city-county area overnight by police and sheriff's departments. One driver was cited for a traffic law violation.

Police cited Frances I. Blair, 58, Rt. 3, for failure to yield right of way following a two-car crash at the intersection of High Street and Fairway Drive at 12:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Officers said the Blair car was southbound on Fairway and pulled onto High Street, colliding with the right side of a westbound car driven by Ernest B. Raunhorst, 58, of 1326 Nelson Place. Damage was minor.

One woman escaped injury when her car slid off U.S. 62, just south of the city, and overturned on its side Wednesday morning.

Sheriff's Deputies reported Lorain A. Morter, 70, Rt. 1, was northbound on U.S. 62 when her car failed to negotiate a left turn onto the temporary bypass. The car slid off the right side of the highway down an embankment where it overturned on its right side. Damage to the 1964 model car was moderate.

Change sought in dead listing for sailor

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A suit has been filed in U.S. District Court here seeking to have the status of Navy hospital corpsman Mark V. Dennis changed from killed in action to missing inn action.

The suit, filed by Jerry Dennis, a brother, asks for an immediate, temporary restraining order, arguing that to continue listing Dennis as killed may jeopardize his life if he is now in a prisoner of war camp in Southeast Asia.

The Navy says Dennis was killed in July, 1966, in the crash of a helicopter in Quang Tri Province in South Vietnam. But on the basis of medical tests on the exhumed remains, and contradictory records, his family has been trying for more than two years to get his status changed.

The suit argues that to list Dennis as dead deprives him of his constitutional rights of due process of law, equal protection under the law and the privileges and immunities of a U.S. citizen.

Study 5 office complexes to satisfy state's needs

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Public Works has been developing a long-range plan for state office space needs that focuses on the construction of about five small office complexes in downtown Columbus.

Public Works Director R. Wilson Neff said Wednesday that he favors building "a few" small office complexes rather than renting space or building another structure like the 41-story office tower now under construction.

Neff said his department is studying the state's space needs for the next 15 years with an eye towards meeting Gov. John Gilligan's goal of centralized offices in Columbus.

"We would feel that the state should own its own complexes," the director said.

"Obviously, something needs to be done if the state departments are going to be combined in a central location," he said. "Our feeling is that we want to go to smaller buildings which maintain a functional identity and that are more noticeable to the public."

As an example, Neff said, "It is natural to think of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the Departments of Commerce and Insurance in a commercial building."

He also suggested combination of the departments of Employment Services and Welfare and the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation in a social services building.

Neff said the buildings should be small enough to be convenient to the public, but he added, "Guessing what size these offices are going to be is an exercise in itself."

Wallace's POW on North Viet list

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. Gorge C. Wallace is one of many Americans who vowed to wear a bracelet bearing the name of a prisoner of war in North Vietnam until the POW returned home.

The governor's bracelet bears the name of an Alabama serviceman, Air Force 1st Lt. Richard McDow, 26, of Columbiana, who was captured June 27, 1972. McDow's name was on the list of POW's the Pentagon says will be returning within 60 days.

Sigmoidoscopy Is Not Surgery

I have been told I must have a sigmnoidoscopy. I received very little further explanation and wonder if this procedure is a surgical one.

Mrs. J.K., Ill.

Dear Mrs. K.:

A sigmoidoscopy is not a surgical procedure. An instrument, the sigmoidoscope, is gently and painlessly inserted into the rectum. With a magnifying lens, the lower end of the large intestine can be minutely examined.

Small erosions, ulcerations, polyps, and inflammations can be studied by direct vision. When necessary, small pieces of tissues can be removed for microscopic study.

The slight discomfort of this office procedure is compensated by the valuable information attainable. These findings, in addition to the barium X-ray study of the large bowel, give your physician the information he needs for an accurate diagnosis.

I cannot help commenting on your statement that you received "very little further information" about this procedure. Sometimes patients, in their anxiety, do not remember the information given to them by a doctor. Unless one understands exactly what the doctor suggests, confusion must result.

The patient, too, plays an important role in "receiving" an explanation. Patients must repeatedly request from their doctors full explanation of the treatment they are about to receive. Without this, the relationship between the doctor and patient is in jeopardy and anxiety inevitably results.

Can you tell me something about distilled water? Would it help arthritis and improve circulation?

Mrs. W.C., La.

Dear Mrs. C.:

The process of distillation occurs when water is heated to the boiling point and then the steam is allowed to condense. The process is used for the purification of water. Excess minerals and other substances are thus removed.

It is interesting that when distilled water is exposed to the air, it tends to again pick up some of the impurities in the air.

There is no relationship between the use of distilled water and arthritic or circulatory disturbances.

It really is astonishing how such misinformation arises and then is generously spread from one friend to another. That which is a source of disturbance to doctors is that people who readily accept such misinformation are less likely to seek professional advice for their medical problems.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Ski-mobiles are exciting and invigorating. Unfortunately, many young people without licenses and often without responsibility to themselves and to others are allowed to use these machines. The penalties for the serious accidents that result can last a lifetime.

Opening lead - three of spades.

Here is a hand played in a rubber bridge game by Camillo Pabis Ticci, member of the Italian Blue Team that has dominated the bridge world for many years.

The bidding was sporting, to say the least, especially East's double of six hearts. Ordinarily, South would have to lose two spade tricks and go down one, but Pabis Ticci managed the affair exceptionally well and wound up making the slam.

West led the three of spades. Declarer realized that the lead was probably a singleton and accordingly initiated steps to avoid losing two spade tricks. After winning the spade with the ace, he played the king of trumps and ruffed a club.

Pabis Ticci then cashed the ace of diamonds and trumped a diamond, after which he ruffed the jack of clubs and trumped his last diamond. He next led the king of clubs but, instead of ruffing it, discarded the right of spades. West won the club with the ace, but then had to lead a diamond or a club.

This permitted Tabis Ticci to ruff in dummy as he shed the last spade from his hand, and the outcome was that he made six hearts redoubled for a plus of 2,220 points, instead of going down one for a minus of 400 points.

The loser-on-loser play worked to perfection and there was nothing the defenders could do to stop it from succeeding. In effect, Pabis Ticci lost a club trick he didn't have to lose — but got the trick back with compound interest.

Man re-arrested; police red-faced

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police who arrested a 24-year-old man on larcency by trick charges last week have re-arrested the man and added another charge, "the flim-flam of us".

Detectives said after Ricardo G. Palen was re-arrested Tuesday that after his first arrest last Wednesday he had offered to stage a heroin purchase for them.

3rd letter bomb defused in Rome

ROME (AP) — Postal authorities have discovered the third letter bomb in six days addressed to a movie actress, the latest one sent to Elsa Martinelli.

Officials reported Tuesday that the bomb addressed to Miss Martinelli caught fire at the Pisa railway station as the bag containing it was being loaded into a mail coach. It was defused at the Rome railway station post office.

High Court to review death case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has agreed to look into a question of whether a Franklin County youth should go on trial as an adult on a murder charge.

It accepted for review Wednesday the case of Charles E. Carmichael, charged with first-degree murder in the shooting June 25, 1971, of Donald Reed of Columbus.

The defendant was ordered by the Franklin County Juvenile Court to stand trial as an adult over defense objections claiming the order resulted from hearsay evidence.

In other cases, the court let stand the conviction of Robert Ware on four counts of first-degree manslaughter stemming from an interstate highway crash which killed four persons, and left undisturbed second-degree murder and shooting with intent to kill convictions of William Brady Kearns of Ironton.

Records showed Ware's car was going the wrong way on Interstate 75 in Warren County when it crashed into another vehicle driven by Frances A. Rudokas, who was killed, along with Alice Rowe, Carol Ann Pfau, and Elizabeth Spillmore.

The conviction of Kearns in Lawrence County Common Pleas Court followed the May 17, 1970, fatal shooting of Joseph Campbell and the wounding of Raymond Campbell in the same incident.

New defense chief puzzled by Laos bombing secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — On his first day as secretary of defense, Elliot L. Richardson asked what many Americans have been asking for years: Why the secrecy surrounding the U.S. air war in Laos?

"I hope to have an answer pretty soon," said Richardson.

The issue was raised Wednesday during Richardson's first news conference, and the secretary replied he had asked that question himself after taking office the previous day.

The new Pentagon chief didn't say to whom his question was directed, but it seemed obvious he was referring to the White House and, more specifically, to the office of presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

Despite the Vietnam ceasefire, U.S. planes have hit Communist positions in Laos for four consecutive days. All the Pentagon will say is that American aircraft are continuing operations "at the request of the royal Laotian government."

Although Richardson himself indicated he has strong doubts about the long-standing U.S. policy of carrying on bombing of Laos behind a partial cloak of secrecy, it appears unlikely he will be able to remove the wraps without White House consent.

The indication has been that touchy diplomatic considerations involving the Laotian government—which once considered itself neutralist—are responsible for the refusal to talk about U.S. operations there in any detail.

On another matter restricting newsmen, the Pentagon has clamped tight security around the expected return of more than 500 prisoners of war from Southeast Asia.

Despite a Richardson memorandum Wednesday affirming the principle of free flow of information, "to assure that the American people are fully informed about matters of national defense," newsmen are to be barred from interviewing the POWs immediately on their return.

Pentagon spokesmen say their first concern is for the welfare of the men—to speed them through medical checks at Clark Field in the Philippines and return them to their families without delay.

Another reason for secrecy is concern for prisoners still awaiting release by Hanoi. Any bitter or hostile statements by the first men freed could jeopardize POWs left behind, the Pentagon says.

Heavy rain hits Plains, moves east

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy thunderstorm system rumbled across the Southern Plains today bringing high winds and up to 2 inches of rain to areas between Louisiana and Kansas.

Winds up to 67 miles per hour were clocked Wednesday night at Pine Bluff, Ark., where a house trailer was overturned. No injuries were reported.

Snow whitened areas in a narrow band from the Texas Panhandle through central Kansas, and a heavy-snow warning was in effect for parts of Kansas and Minnesota.

Rain and drizzle made up the northern Mississippi Valley's dreary picture. Gale warnings flew over the Great Lakes and the Pacific Northwest coast.

Clear skies favored New England and most of the Far West with the exception of western Washington and portions of the northern Rockies. A hard freeze hit New England, with subzero temperatures in many places.

Snow flurries brought a fresh layer of powder to the White Mountains of Arizona and to western Montana.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at New Pork, Vt. to 74 at Key West, Fla.

Final war count shows 45,941 dead

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command closed out its scheduled weekly casualty summaries today and announced that 45,941 American servicemen died in action in Indochina from Jan. 1, 1961, until the official start of a cease-fire last Sunday.

The final summary also listed 300,635 Americans wounded in action and 1,811 missing, captured or interned. Another 10,303 American servicemen were listed as having died from nonhostile causes such as aircraft accidents, homicides, suicides and illness.

Local Birch Society forms 'Nix on OSHA' committee

"Under the guise of promoting employe health and safety, the federal government has started a new program that could destroy all private business in this country."

With this warning, Dr. Philip Binzel, a spokesman for the John Birch Society announced that the group is forming the Fayette County "Nix on OSHA" committee, "to expose and then defeat the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration. Our purpose is to show the public the damage that is being done to business by OSHA, and to show businessmen what can be done to get this latest bureaucratic monstrosity repealed," Dr. Binzel declared.

Although many Americans have never heard of OSHA, the "Nix on OSHA" Committee contends that tens of thousands of businessmen across the United States have already felt its impact. According to the "Nix On OSHA" Committee, OSHA compliance officers, armed with a mountain of regulations and documents, can enter any firm or shop without a warning or a warrant, to inspect for violations of federal regulations. Businessmen are subject to fines or imprisonment without a hearing or a trial, and OSHA even has the power to order their businesses closed, the committee contends.

The committee chairman pointed out, "OSHA officials act as prosecutor, judge, and jury in each case. In the first six months of operation, OSHA Compliance Officers visited some 9300 businesses. Of these, over 75 per cent were found guilty of violating some OSHA regulation. And OSHA officials admitted that the remaining companies could also have been found guilty of something if the OSHA officials had looked hard enough."

THE "Nix On OSHA" Committee, which is part of a nationwide network of such groups started by the conservative John Birch Society, has stated: "After almost 200 years of the greatest productivity and technological advance in the history of mankind, the federal government apparently has decided that the men who accomplished such wonders, the American producers and businessmen, are virtual criminals who deliberately endanger the men and women who work for them. We think such an assumption is outrageous. The truth is that federal bureaucrats are using this excuse to control all American business."

The committee believes that most industrial accidents are caused by human carelessness and will, unfortunately, occur from time to time. It points out that virtually every business has already instituted safety procedures, in an effort to reduce such accidents. "Otherwise," Dr. Binzel noted, "it would soon be forced to close down, because there would be no one left to employ."

The Fayette County "Nix On OSHA" Committee is planning to conduct an educational campaign about OSHA in the area, through literature distribution, public programs, and letter-writing. Dr. Binzel added, "This nation-wide network of committees is being started by the John Birch Society, which has repeatedly insisted that the federal government is no longer being run by well-meaning but bungling bureaucrats, but by a new breed of revolutionary activitists who are determined to rule or ruin our entire economy. Now, many American businessmen are reaching the same painful conclusion. There is still time to stop this growing menace, but businessmen and Birchers must work together to do it."

Interested citizens can contact "Nix On OSHA" Committee through the American Opinion Book Store at the Pensyl Camera Shop.

Ohio Perspective

Farmers counting up costs of harvesting

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio farmers sweat and strained this year to switch a disastrous growing season into a delightful payoff.

They hiked their total estimated income by 7 per cent, up to $1.591 billion. That gave them an edge over 1971 of about $104 million.

But, before celebrating, Ohioans have to count heavy extra costs harvesting their bogged-down crops and more banged-up machinery than any year ought to exact. No one really knows the total toll, may never know.

"It was one of the most frustrating seasons," said Dan C. Tucker, U.S. Department of Agriculture statistical chief in Columbus, one of the wettest falls in the books.

After 10 months of 1972, Ohio figured to cash in 13 per cent more income than in the previous year. The comparison through October was $1.251 billion last year compared to $1.115 billion in the first 10 months of 1971-and 1971 was a banner crop year.

But, at normal harvest time the fields were nearly bottomless mud. The entire crop still isn't harvested, despite three January weeks of hard fields on which machinery could maneuver.

Tucker estimated that 95 per cent of both corn and soybean crops are in at month's end.

Soybeans suffered most. The average 1972 yield was 27 bushels to the acre, compared to 30.5 bushels in 1971. But, the average price per bushel this year was $3.40 a bushel compared to only $3.04 a bushel in 1971.

That makes the soybean crop work $278 million in 1972, only $247 million in 1971.

Corn enjoyed a similar edge. Average yield was 90 bushel to the acre compared to the previous record of 91 bushels in 1971, and the average price last year was $1.33 a bushel, in 1971 only $1.06 a bushel.

Corn crop value was $371 million last year compared to $342 million in banner 1971.

The corn cash figure is more than somewhat artificial, however, since about 45 per cent of the corn grown on Ohio farms is not sold, but fed back to Ohio animals.

At this fairly stable rate, farmers actually sold only about $152.9 million of their corn crop, feeding the rest. Livestock produces about 54 per cent of Ohio's total farm income with crops accounting for 46 per cent.

Bondsman arrested for money theft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A bondsman needed a bondsman himself Wednesday after he was charged with "fishing" envelopes containing $981 for other bonds from a safe in the Hamilton County Clerk's office.

James Brooksbank, 32, of Cincinnati, as held to the Hamilton County grand jury under $100 bond. The money was taken during the night of Jan. 21, police said.

WCH hoping to stay afloat in SCOL fuss

Blue Lions entertain upset-minded Indians

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Washington C. H.'s Blue Lions will be hoping to stay afloat in the hectic South Central Ohio League basketball race Friday night.

Head coach Gary Shaffer's title-hungry Blue Lions will entertain a surprisingly strong Hillsboro bunch, and Washington C. H. must win if it wants to be around when the precious SCOL souvenirs are doled out later this month.

The Lions, who stumbed in last Friday night's action when always-tough Wilmington dished out a 73-67 upset verdict, will be hoping to preserve their first place tie atop the SCOL pack when the revived Indians come calling for the 8 p.m. shootout.

BUT, THERE'S a strong outside possibility that Washington C. H. could emerge with sole ownership of the SCOL's top perch Friday. That's providing the Lions escape with a win over the upset-minded Hillsboro team and Miami Trace wins its crucial shooting match with co-leading Circleville.

Washington C. H., hoping to hoist its first SCOL flag in 17 seasons, will be hoping to improve a 5-2 SCOL chart and 8-6 all-games record in the bout with always-dangerous Hillsboro.

Despite winning three of its last four games, Washington C. H. had a four-game SCOL winning streak scissored when Wilmington chalked up its second win over the Lions this season.

Hillsboro, enjoying another vastly improved season under enthusiastic head coach Robert Ream, will tote a two-game winning skein into Friday's struggle at the WSHS gym.

The unpredictable Indians, owners of a 3-4 SCOL record and 6-7 overall worksheet, have won three of their last four SCOL outings and the victories include upset decisions over Wilmington and Circleville.

Washington C. H.'s big problem Friday will be defensing Hillsboro whiz Don Jewett if it hopes to keep its title chances flickering.

Jewett, the sharpshooting 6-foot-1 senior, holds a spiffy 18.7 point per game marksmanship, which ranks second among the top pointmakers in the SCOL.

THE FLASHY Hillsboro forward has been scoring at a 17.6 norm against seven league opponents.

He will probably be joined at the other corner position by Lawrence Turners, a 6-foot-2 junior, although Ream has juggled his starting quintet several times this year in search of a more suitable combination.

Kevin Bailey, a scrambling 5-foot-8 sophomore, has shouldered a large chunk of Hillsboro's scoring duties this season. Bailey, an effective outside gunman, owns 14.2 points a game scoring credentials. Bailey's backcourt sidekick could be Dave Larimer, a 6-foot-1 junior, or Bill Housh, a 6-foot-0 junior.

Ream will probably employ 6-foot-3 senior Mark Coffman at center. Coffman has given Hillsboro valuable scoring help in the last six games by responding with about 10 points per outing.

442 selected in pro grid draft

NEW YORK (AP) — "Who's Mr. Lucky?" one weary spectator sighed. "Miami selects Charlie Wade, wide receiver, Tennessee State," the National Football League official replied—and, amid cheers of relief, the annual flesh-peddling of collegiate talent finally ground to an end.

It had taken 20 hours and 12 minutes—and 441 other players—to get to that point Wednesday. By that time, whatever suspense and excitement had once been generated in the cavernous ballroom of the Americana Hotel had long evaporated.

Virtually all the stars had been gobbled up by the 26 clubs in Tuesday's portion of the NFL draft. A few—like quarterbacks John Hufnagel of Penn State and Eddie McAshen of Georgia Tech, running backs Rufus Ferguson of Wisconsin and Howard Stevens of Louisville and Olympic gold medal-winning hurdler Rod Milburn of Southern University—were still unclaimed.

For one reason or another, there was no rush to grab them—although they weren't left out in the cold.

The John Matuszaks, the Bert Joneses and the other names which had attracted nearly 200 spectators to the first round of the draft were long gone. And so were the spectators. There were just 15 of them left in the gallery when the 17th and final round began—and three of them were snoozing.

Matuszak was there. The mammoth muscleman from Tampa, who'd once punched a guy at a party because he'd "put his hands on my girlfriend," and is still serving two years' probation because of it, was the first pick by the Houston Oilers.

"Only in America," he grinned "can a guy who's half Irish, one-fourth Polish and a bit Italian play football in Oak Creek, Wis., Fort Dodge, Iowa, Columbia, Mo., and Tampa, Fla., before being drafted No. 1 by a team in Texas.

The 6-foot-7½, 275-pounder with the big mop of curly hair "will become the highest salaried lineman in pro football history," said Boston attorney Bob Wolff, who'll do Matuszak's negotiating with Houston. It could mean a windfall a workable group before we go," he said.

Such dreams of greenbacks are beyond reality for the likes of, say Jeff Davis—but he can dream anyway—and with some justification.

Davis, a running back from what the NFL listed as "Mars Hill, N.C.," was drafted just ahead of Wade, in other words, next-to-last, by the Washington Redskins.

But he probably knows full well that just two years ago the Baltimore Colts' last-round pick, the NFL's 441st, was a guy named Don Nottingham. And if Davis is worried about making a team with runners like Larry Brown and Charley Harraway, he can also remind himself that a man who never even played college football and just showed up one day at the Redskins' open tryout, got a Super Bowl check with the name "Herb Mul-Key" written on it.

Miami, Bowling Green, OU grab MAC basketball wins

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— "I'm glad we had the cushion," sighed Miami basketball Coach Darrel Hedric after his Redskins salvaged a 68-64 triumph over Western Michigan Wednesday night.

The victory enabled Miami to maintain its one-game hold on first place in the Mid-American Conference standings, although Bowling Green took over the second slot by virtue of a 51-48 win over Toledo, which dropped into third.

Pre-season favorite Ohio University, co-champions last season with Toledo, kept a flicker of a hope for the league title by defeating Kent State 74-64.

Miami appeared to be on the verge of trouncing Western Michigan. The Redskins scored nine in a row early in the game and had built up a 42-24 lead by halftime.

But the Broncos surged back after intermission, outscoring Miami 21-8 in the first 10 minutes of the second period. and had closed the gap 56-53 with seven minutes to play.

Miami, however, held on for the victory to improve its conference record to 5-1. The Broncos fell further into the league cellar with a 1-5 mark.

Ohio had little trouble in rolling over Kent State to improve its MAC mark to 3-3. The Bobcats took a 10-point advantage in the first half and built it up to as much as 18 points in the second period, although the Golden Flashes closed to within six points at one stage. Kent now is 2-4.

"Let's face it, we have to win the rest," Ohio Coach Jim Snyder said of his team's chances in the conference race. "Bowling Green beating Toledo helped us."

Ex-Blue Lion owns 27.3 average

Wright bonafide All-Ohio

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Just call it a case of rotten luck!

While most high school coaches are hoping for a bonafide All-Ohio candidate to transfer into their school district, Gary Shaffer, head basketball coach at Washington C. H., unfortunately, had one move away two years ago.

Chris Wright, who was a member of the Washington C. H. Blue Lion basketball team as a sophomore before moving to Byesville when his father accepted the superintendent's position in the Rolling Hills School District, is headed for All-Ohio accolades at the rate he's been going.

WRIGHT, a senior at Meadowbrook High School near Byesville, is swishing the nets with a 27.3 point per game average and holds the school single game scoring standard of 48 points.

The 5-foot-10, 160-pound backcourt whiz popped in 48 points Dec. 29 in a game against rival Caldwell High School to eclipse a school record of 41 points he established last season.

He has also turned in blistering 44 and 41 point efforts this season and is the top pointmaker in the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference with a 27.3 point a game credentials.

Following 11 games, at Meadowbrook, Wright had scored 300 points on the basis of 110 field goals and 80 free throws and owned a neat 45.8 per cent field goal shooting percentage. He also was connecting on 77.6 per cent of his free throws and averaged six rebounds, three steals and four assists per game.

Wright's torrid shooting pace had guided head coach Gary Brown's Class AA Colts to a 3-8 all-games record.

Last year the scrambling little guard landed an All-Eastern Ohio District first team berth and was named to the All-Ohio honorable mention list.

Buckeye gridders chosen slowly in picks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I sat by that dagblame telephone all day yesterday, waiting. That's awful."

George Hasenohrl, Ohio State's second team All-American defensive tackle, probably spoke for countless other collegians on what it's like when you are not picked on the opening day of the National Football League draft.

"It's sure a relief. I'm just glad it's over with," said the 258-pounder from Garfield Heights Wednesday after he was picked in the eighth round by the New York Giants.

There had been some talk Hasenohrl, one of five Buckeyes drafted on the second day, would be tried at offensive guard in the pros.

"No, the Giants said defense and I'm glad," said Hasenohrl, who had started three seasons on defense for Ohio State.

"I'm real happy with the Giants. It's close to home, too," he said.

No Buckeyes were picked in the first seven rounds of the draft Tuesday, but three were selected in round No. 8 Wednesday, another in the ninth round and another in the 17th and final round.

Tapped with Hasenohrl in the eighth round were Buckeyes Rick Seifert, a safety from Cuyahoga Falls, by the New York Jets, and John Bledsoe, the No. 3 fullback last fall, who went to the Detroit Lions.

Wingback Rick Galbos of Mentor was chosen by the Washington Redskins in the ninth round, and the last Buckeye to be picked was Earl Belgrave, an offensive tackle from Brooklyn, N.Y., who will go to Detroit.

Miami running back Joe Booker, a 210-pounder from Cincinnati, was the first college player from an Ohio school other than OSU to be picked Wednesday. He was tapped by the Jets in round 13.

Three Ohio players had been chosen Tuesday. They were Youngstown State quarterback Ron Jaworski, by the Los Angeles Rams in the second round; Bowling Green guard Fred Stuart, by the St. Louis Cardinals in the third round, and Central State defensive back Don Walker, by the Buffalo Bills in the fourth round.

Selected in round 14 Wednesday was Dave Juenger, Ohio University's versatile quarterback-wide receiver from Chillicothe. He will go with the Chicago Bears.

Also in that round, the Jets picked Toledo running back-quarterback Joe Schwartz of Adrian, Mich.

Round 16 saw the Jets select John Czerwinski, a Bowling Green tackle from Port Clinton, and the Detroit Lions choose Larry Nickets, a wide receiver for Dayton.

Marion Pleasant's gridders potent cagers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How would you feel if you were a high school basketball coach and your starters hadn't practiced once before the first game?

"I don't think a basketball coach in his right mind would like it. We had no fundamentals at all," said Stan Kirby, whose regulars all played on the Marion Pleasant state football titlists.

The Spartans' first seven basketball players were playing football the day before they beat Marion Catholic 45-29 in the opener.

Since then, Ohio's second-ranked Class A squad has won 13 more games for a 22-game regular season basketball victory streak. The Marion County school has won 38 in a row in football.

Have the all-winning football ways rubbed off in basketball?

"Don't forget thse kids played in the state basketball tournament two years ago," answered Kirby. "Maybe we've helped football. Don't get the cart before the horse."

Kirby adds, "These kids are just such good competitors. I thought we would have a slow start this year and have to catch up. Instead, I've given them more time off than ever before."

Three of Pleasant's all-state football players, end Terry King, defensive back Max Midlam and quarterback Scott Ballinger, start in basketball.

The other regulars are Dave Mauk, the team's top scorer with 17 points per game and a defensive football halfback, and Larry Fink, a 6-4 erstwhile tackle.

Around Ohio: Two Upper Arlington players ran into each other while stalling for a last shot against fourth-ranked Newark. The Wildcats picked up the ball and Randy Foster's basket with two seconds left gave Newark a 60-58 victory.

Berne Union in Fairfield County had 110 of its 215 pupils sick last week and the school still played a game against Lancaster Fisher, taking an 84-44 loss.

Dan Zarlingo tied a Lowellville school record with 39 points against Lordstown.

Willard, second-ranked in Class AA, hit 60 per cent of its shots (51-86) in whipping Bellevue and Norwalk last week. Mansfield Senior, No. 6 in Class AAA, sank 49 of 74 free throws for a pair of victories over Elyria and Marion Harding.

Youngstown East trailed Youngstown North 22-2 in the second quarter last week, yet won 63-46. East outscored North 61-24 the rest of the game after the slow start.

Boardman meets its tournament nemesis, Akron Central-Hower, Friday. The Youngstown area team has lost in regional play the last two years to Central-Hower.

Flu decked Hamilton Garfield's players and games with Middletown and Cincinnati Aiken last week. Now Garfield mentor Don Gillespie has the illness.

Another turnaround: Springfield Shawnee trailed Covington 16-2 after the first quarter and still won 65-61.

If Toledo St. Francis whips St. John's Friday, the Blue Division title of the Toledo City League will go to St. Francis. Macomber, Central and DeVilbiss are tied for the Red Division lead.

Ted Hipsher tied Ken Brooks' Findlay regular season scoring record of 43 points against Fremont Ross Saturday with Brooks viewing the outburst. Brooks, now an Ohio State freshman, was the first to congratulate Hipsher afterward.

Demand for tickets has forced Adena Buckeye West, 13-0, and Tiltonsville Buckeye South, 9-3, to move their game tonight to the 6,000 seat Steubenville Arena. Class A West won the first meeting of the season 69-56 over Plass AA South.

Phil Saunders, a 6-foot Cuyahoga Heights senior leading Greater Cleveland in scoring, roomed with University of Maryland star Tom McMillen this summer at a basketball camp. "It was a very valuable summer," admitted Saunders, averaging 30 points a game.

A playoff game looms between defending state champion East Tech and Kennedy for the Cleveland East Senate crown after East Tech avenged an earlier loss to Kennedy. Both are 10-1 in the league. St. Ignatius has clinched the West Senate title.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS Television network plans to broadcast two journalistic coups tonight — separate interviews with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam and presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger.

The Kissinger interview, which CBS says is being taped today at the White House, will be shown from 9 to 10 p.m. EST and the Thieu interview from 11:30 p.m. to midnight EST.

CBS says the Kissinger interview is expected to cover both U.S. foreign policy and all aspects of the recent Vietnam peace agreement. It will be exclusive unless other news organizations are allowed to join the proceedings.

CBS diplomatic correspondent Marvin Kalb will be the interviewer. His brother, Bernard, conducted the Thieu interview Tuesday at the presidential palace in Saigon.

The network says that dialogue covers events in South Vietnam since Saturday's cease-fire and Thieu's thoughts on political prospects in his country in the months ahead.

Both programs come on the same night of yet another CBS news exclusive — the final talk any reporter had with former President Lyndon B. Johnson prior to Johnson's death last month.

That special, which already was scheduled, is being broadcast after the Kissinger interview. It covers what Johnson considered his greatest accomplishment — progress in equal rights for all Americans. Entitled "LBJ: The Last Interview," the program was filmed at the LBJ ranch in Texas 10 days before the former president died of a heart attack.

His interview with Walter Cronkite was conducted in guest quarters called the Cedar House. The whole thing took less than two hours, interrupted only when Johnson suffered an attack of angina pectoris.

He stepped outside briefly to take a nitroglycerine tablet that eased the pain, then returned and insisted on continuing the interview, according to the show's producer, Burton Benjamin.

The completed program contains film clips of Johnson's major civil rights addresses, among them his famous 1965 speech to Congress that included the black rallying cry: "We shall overcome!"

Cronkite noted that many say Johnson, in his zeal to do something for the blacks and underprivileged of this country, "promised so much and the delivery was difficult.

"Do you think that you overpromised?" he asked.

Johnson's stubborn pride showed in his first answer: "No, I don't know what we promised. We had certain goals and we made certain recommendations ... but I'm unaware of a lot of promises we had made that weren't fulfilled."

Cronkite rephrased the question, putting it in the context of "the promise of a better life,"

Johnson backed into the answer. He first credited his administration's accomplishments in civil rights, medical care and education to the groundwork laid 20 years earlier by President Harry S. Truman.

"I just happened to be the catalyst," he said in part. He finally acknowledged that "a great many people did say we went too far and we went too fast. And we well might have, but the country was long overdue."

The hour with Johnson contains much more, but its primary virtue is that it gives us a long impression of a proud, complex man in the twilight of major accomplishments and defeats.

Educators stressing character-building

WILMINGTON — Character-building is as important as intellectual growth for college students, according to a consensus of 50 leading educators at a "Strategies For Change" workshop held at Wilmington College.

Institutions represented were Empire State College, Hartwick College, Hofstra College, Loretto Heights College, Messiah College, Stephens College, University of South Carolina, Wilberforce University and Wilmington College.

Educating responsible human beings was seen as preferable to a straight subject matter approach, the educators agreed. The four-day event was climaxed by a dinner at the home of Wilmington College president Dr. Robert E. Hinshaw.

"Strategies For Change" is funded by a grant from the National Institute For Mental Health.

Passenger train kills 34 persons

BUDAPEST (AP) — A passenger train hit a bus at an unguarded rail crossing Tuesday night, killing 34 persons and injuring 21, authorities reported.

The bus driver, who was unhurt, was arrested for failing to stop before crossing the tracks, police said.

Circleville gets set for DDD change

CIRCLEVILLE — The countdown for DDD-day is minus-11 and counting.

Direct distance dialing is coming Feb. 11 at 2:01 a.m. At that time General Telephone Co. of Ohio will switch over to its new $1.5 million facility.

Phone users then will be able to dial station-to-station long distance calls direct. More than 125 million phones in the United States and Canada and part of Mexico are tired to the DDD network.

Paul G. Diener, Circleville district commercial manager, said final testing of the intricate new DDD switching equipment is under way.

Scheduled for DDD besides Circleville are neighboring exchanges of Ashville, Laurelville and Williamsport. Circleville is the long distance center. Toll calls presently are handled by operators.

The four exchanges serve about 15,700 phones.

The DDD switching facility was installed in an addition built into the Circleville office at 113 Pinckney St. Equipment installations for DDD also were completed in the Ashville, Laurelville and Williamsport exchange offices.

Instruction for using DDD are in the current Circleville phone directory.

The area most commonly hit by U.S. ice storms extends from Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma eastward through the Middle Atlantic and New England states.

Hamburger and pot roasts replace steaks for military

WASHINGTON (AP) — With food prices rising, the Navy has ordered mess cooks to substitute hamburger for steaks and chops. Army troops will be eating more pot roast.

The armed services—like many housewives—are cutting their grocery bills by substituting lower-priceditems in their menus.

"Menus will be just as nutritious but not as delicious," explained a military food-service officer.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., in a message to all commands, noted a 20-per-cent rise in Navy food costs over the past six months.

The Agriculture Department Tuesday reported a 5 per cent rise in food prices from mid-December to mid-January, a 21-per-cent increase over last January's prices.

Zumwalt, the chief of naval operations, ordered food managers Jan. 11 to "suspend requisitioning of selected high-cost luxury and convenience items" such as steaks, roasts, lamb chops and lobster and to reduce "consumption of other high-cost items."

Similar orders are expected shortly from the Marine Corps.

The Army and Air Force have yet to adopt these drastic measures but officials indicate similar steps may be taken if the price trend continues.

"We're watching very closely the rapid price rise of certain things" such as shrimp, lobster, minute steaks, sirloin and some fish fillets, said the chief of the Army's buying program.

"Steak is still on the menu," said the officer who asked not to be quoted by name, "but we'll have more pot roast and swiss steak than ever before."

The Defense Department had ordered the armed forces to cut beef purchases by 10 per cent in the final four months of 1972. But that order, part of an overall administration effort to reduce beef prices nationwide, has expired.

Also disappearing from chow halls will be frozen asparagus and corn on the cob, frozen raspberries, mixed nuts, frozen pizza and some commercial salad dressings.

"A pretty county retreat," Washington Irving once observed, "is like a pretty wife. One is always throwing money away decorating it."

Cholera killed nearly 400 persons in Indonesia in the first five months of 1972.

New year starts on dry note

The new year started out on a dry note for Washington C.H., with only 2.01 inches of precipitation, both rain and snow, reported by Coyt A. Stookey, official weather observer for the city.

The first month's total was 1.37 inches below the 3.38-inch city average for January. But this year's figure was above the January 1972 reading of 1.59 inches.

There was precipitation on 13 of January's 31 days, ranging from a trace on the 10th and 12th to .69 inch on the 4th.

Minimum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 6 above zero on the 10th and 12th to 41 on the 27th. Maximum daily temperatures ranged from a low of 22 on the 7th to 62 on the 18th.

It was "a cold day in January", Jan. 10, to be specific, according to Gale Parrett, Parrott Station weatherman, as he reviewed the month's highs and lows - and the wets. The low on Jan. 10 was one above at Parrott Station, the high, 23; the warmest day was Jan. 17, when the thermometer got to 56, after a low of 28. There was only one 'fair' day, 21 partly cloudy, six days of rain, for a total of 2.53 inches.

The four days of snow, two inches in all, brought the overall precipitation total to 2.53½ inches, slightly under January, of 1972, when the reading was 2.62½ inches. The Ohio average for January is 3.10 inches.

Dayton youths arrested after gun is found

A 17-year-old Dayton youth and his 15-year-old companion were arrested by sheriff's deputies at U.S. 35 and I-71 gas station on concealed weapon and delinquency charges Wednesday.

Officers said the pair had hitch-hiked from their Dayton home to the interchange where they stopped at Douglas Sunoco. Sheriff's deputies were called to the station after attendant Dave Douglas noticed one of the youths was carrying a gun.

Officers searched the two and found a .38 caliber snub-nosed pistol on the 17-year-old youth.

Both were taken to the county jail where they were incarcerated to await Montgomery County authorities. Both youths were charged with being runaways and the 17-year-old with carrying a concealed weapon.

Two Xenia youths, runaways from the Old Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home, who walked into the Sheriff's office Tuesday evening, were treated at Memorial Hospital for severe frostbite of their feet, officers reported.

Officers said the feet of the one youth, wearing tennis shoes, had split open and were bleeding while the feet of the other youth were covered with blisters. The two had left the home Saturday and has slept in barns as they walked along the railroad tracks to Washington C.H.

The two youths were treated in the emergency room and later released to authorities at the home.

2 OEO officials resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity have resigned. President Nixon has already made known his intention to dismantle the poverty aid organization.

Those resigning are Director Phillip V. Sanchez and Deputy Director Wesley J. Hjornevik.

Sheriff's Department changes announced

Sheriff Don Thompson has announced the resignation of a deputy dispatcher-jailer and the promotion of another field deputy to the rank of sergeant.

Sheriff Thompson said David Dray has resigned his position as dispatcher - jailer effective as soon as a replacement is hired. Dray, who has held the dispatcher position for the past seven years, is leaving to devote more time to farming.

Dray and his wife live on their 180-acre farm on U.S. 62-S. He said he regretted having to leave the law enforcement field but that the demands of his expanding farm operation made the choice necessary.

Sheriff Thompson said his department already has had 50 applications for the post and expects several more. The dispatcher - jailer's salary starts at $6,900 and is increased to $7,246 within a year.

Sheriff Thompson also announced the promotion of Deputy John L. Emrick to the rank of sergeant.

Emrick, with the department since March 1968, is a 1957 graduate of Washington High School and attended Northwestern University's Traffic Accident School, Case-Western Reserve University Drug Control School, the Bureau of Criminal Investigation Investigator's school and many other police related schools and seminars. Emrick was employed as a meter control officer for the city of Washington for three years before joining the Sheriff's Department. He is married and has one son.

Emrick is the second field deputy elevated to the rank of sergeant during the past year; the other is Sgt. William Crooks.

The department currently is operating with eight field deputies, including Chief Deputy Robert McArthur. That is one short of authorized strength.
